The Spirit of Teddy Roosevelt

First he chops down a few trees.

Then takes a cross-country canter.

And a twenty-minute brisk walk.

After which he gives the children a wheel-barrow ride.

He then rests for a moment

By which time he is ready for breakfast.

Mr. Gardner . . .

. . . the orator.

. . . the supervisor.

. . . the diplomat.

. . . the loyal fan.

. . . the nice guy.

Gardner retires after 12 years

The end of school year '79-'80 also marked the end of a twelve year reign of the principal of Roosevelt. Mr. Bruce D. Gardner retired.

Prior to coming to TRHS in 1967, he was principal of Amos Hiatt Junior High School. He also had been vice principal of Roosevelt, Tech, and Wilson Junior High School.

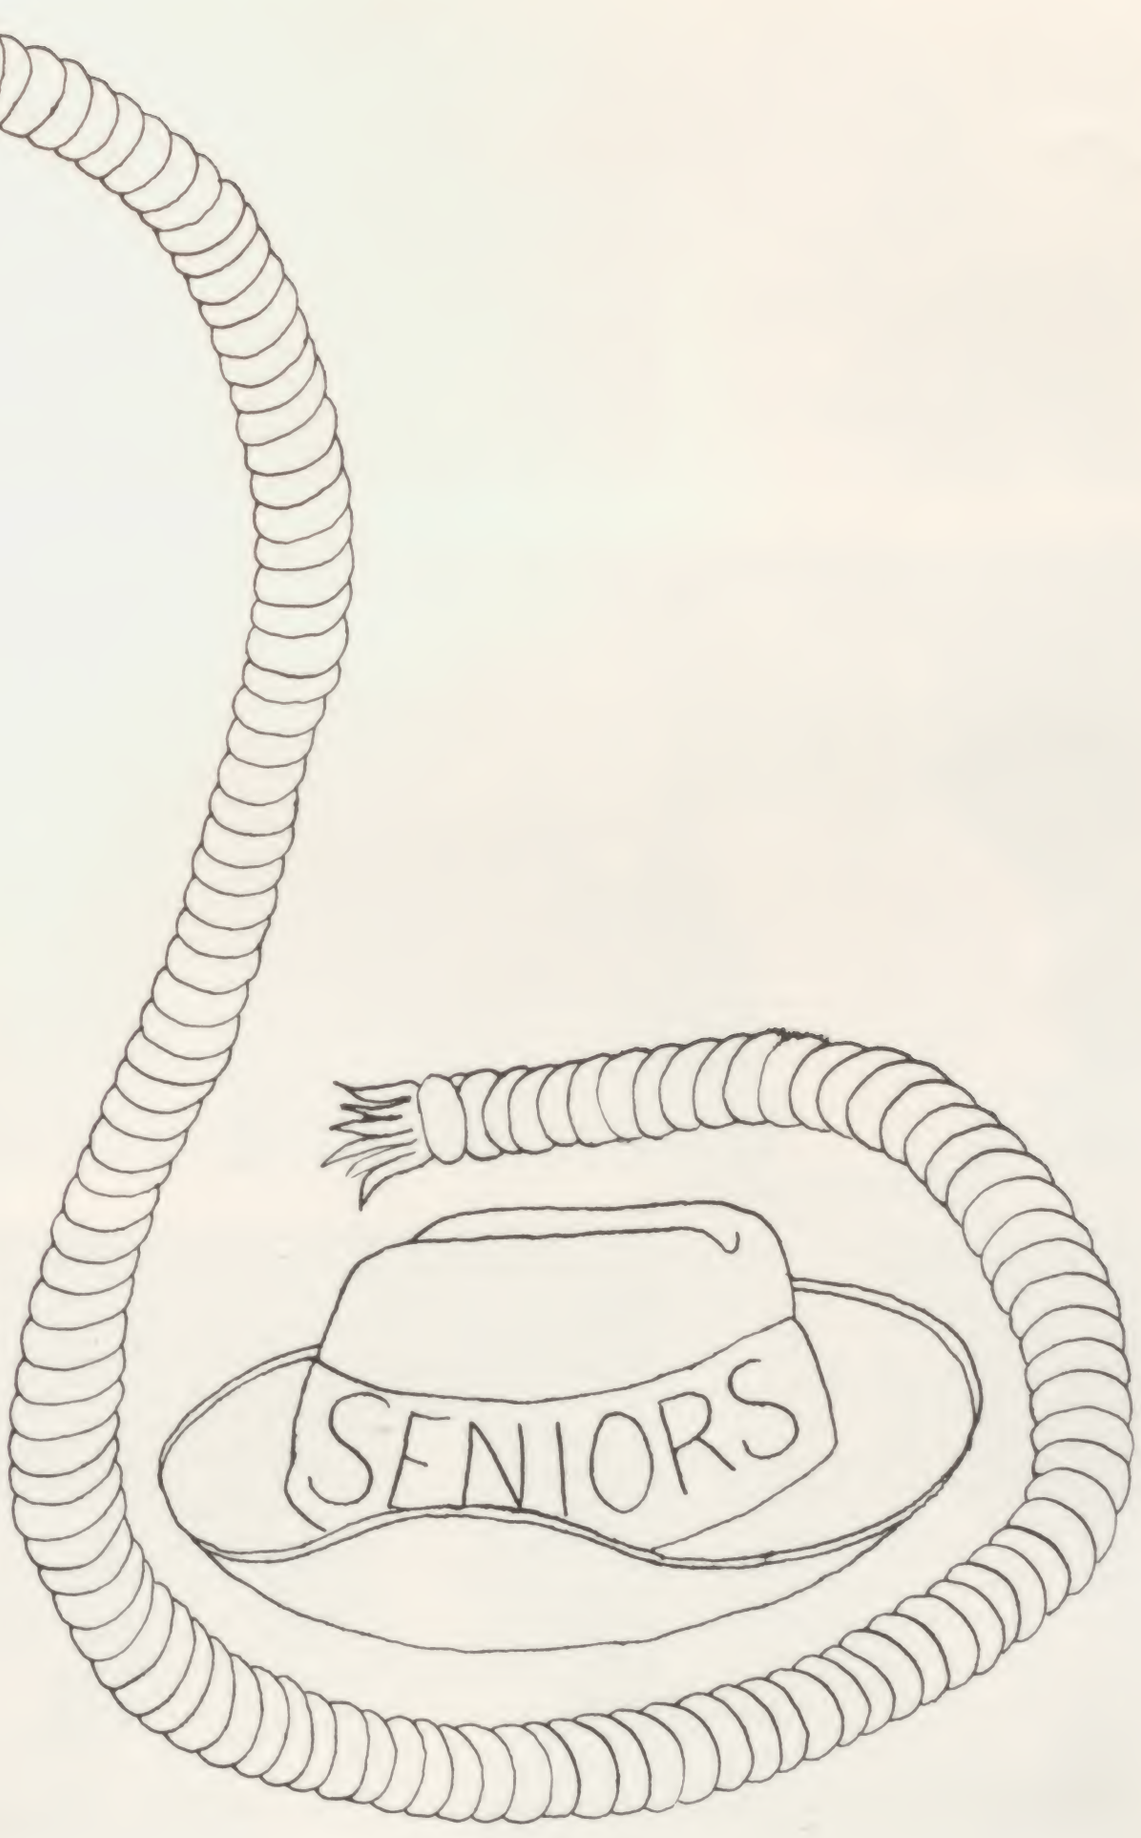
Before becoming an administrator, Mr. Gardner taught social studies and coached football, basketball, and various other sports at Lincoln High School in Des Moines. He also taught and coached in Columbus Junction, West Bend, and Moravia, Iowa.

In between studying at Central College, where he received his undergraduate degree, and obtaining his masters from the University of Iowa, Mr. Gardner was in the service during World War II.

Principal Gardner was also a professional football player. He won't tell all the details, but he was a fullback for the New York Giants in the '40s.

The principal said it was somewhat difficult to recall all the state championships in one sport or another, because they were mere victories of the moment. However, something that will remain with him a lifetime are the academic standards set and maintained at the school.

He said, "It's the environment that's great—because the bulk of the students have such a high priority to do well." "Roosevelt's something special—I'm glad I've been here."



SENIORS

1980 . . . a class with class!

Clockwise from top: 1. Mark VerSteeg says "Look! I play football!" as he shows off his jersey. 2. These senior girls obviously had a super time at Homecoming! 3. Moco Todd eagerly listens for Miss Feist to yell "time!" 4. Kitty O'Keefe and Caryll Petre look "casual" for the photographer during passing period. 5. Jeff Beckman (in disguise) shows the fans his skill as a Valley cheerleader. 6. Jeanne Michel and Keith Littleton practice for the Bubble Gum Blowing Contest in the "Senior Olympics." 7. Glenn Lemons says "That's my girl!" as he hugs (or grabs?) Kathy Rehder. 8. Co-captains of the swim team Brent Mellecker and Phil Templeton nervously await speech time at the Boys' Swim Banquet.

The class of 1980 was a unique one. Perhaps not as close in its underclass years as it should have been, the students last year at TRHS acted almost like a magnet, drawing all of the seniors together. Whether it was at pre- and post-game parties, Tower Park mornings, the senior excursion to Big Creek, or just struggling through their last year of studies at Roosevelt, the class of '80 had fun . . . together. The class was present in a year which also held many changes for the school. The seniors lost the freedom of self-scheduling, but gained a new salad bar! They witnessed the addition of freshmen to the school and the retirement of Mr. Gardner, Mrs. Seaver, and Mrs. Maertz, all of whom had been an integral part of Roosevelt for many years. As Roosevelt passed out of one decade into another, the seniors were there, leading the school in one united effort. Yes, it was a great class with which to begin the '80's!!!!

Senior board, committee chairpersons lead class; plan active year.

Every class has its leaders, and the seniors of 1980 selected a group of dedicated students in October who worked hard both semesters to make their classmates' final year at Roosevelt one they would always remember.

John Kalainov led the class as president and was assisted by vice-president Susan Guthrie, secretary Jill Downing, and treasurers Keith Petrak and Wynn Merryman. Due to the lack of homeroom, it was decided to add eight advisors for more input into the decision making of the group. Jeanne Michel, Dennis Kelly, Shawn McCleran, Gordette Brown, Jennifer Mitchell, Matt Bogart, Debbie Stine and Lynda Paxton completed the board.

The Senior board was aided by the chairmen of the committees who were responsible for carrying out the planned activities. Together, they made 1980 a memorable year for the graduating class.

Wynn Merryman diligently sits at her daily post outside of the cafeteria selling tickets to the Prom.

Mixer opens semester of senior events

Trish McGinnis and Mel Barkely take a break and enjoy the bake sale.

The Olympic participation in Moscow may have been cancelled for the US team; but it certainly was present at Roosevelt the evening of February 2. The annual Senior Mixer, the "1980 Senior Olympics," uncovered hidden skills in the senior class with its many special events. Chairpersons Barbie Barrett, Karin McKinney, and Liz Rodgers judged the games, which included such events as a Balloon Bust, Wheelbarrow and Three-legged Races, Indian Rope Climb, Baseball Bat Relay, and, to test the strength of the senior class, a Tug-of-War for both boys and girls. For those not so athletically inclined, a Bubble Gum Blowing Contest and Peanut Roll were also provided.

The Senior Mixer was the first event held by the class, and proved to be very "successful" according to the chairpersons, as over 110 were in attendance. Those present termed the evening a "success" also, and cited the mixer as a fantastic way to start out the semester's stretch of senior activities.

These seven senior girls were the cheerleaders for the Tug-of-War.

Seniors enjoy a bit of Midnight Magic

Senior prom is an evening most students look forward to with eager anticipation all through their high school years. The class of 1980 was not to be disappointed, for their prom was extra special, one filled with "Midnight Magic."

Over 320 flocked to the Olmsted Center the night of May 10 to enjoy the festivities. Chairperson of the prom, Susan Guthrie, attempted to create a classy, starry night atmosphere with the decorations and entertainment. A seven-piece band called "Shakin'" provided music for dancing and was extremely well received. Many couples called its performance "excellent." For further entertainment, a magician performed magic tricks, to the delight of the crowd, from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m.

The talents of many seniors were combined to make the prom a successful evening. Prom committee chairpersons included Cheryl Danielson, who constructed the band backdrop, and Liz Rodgers, who had the heavy responsibility of coordinating all decorations. Lisa Deaton and Kitty O'Keefe were in charge of the picture backdrop, and Shawn McLeran and Brent Mellecker were responsible for favors, a black hat and scroll which were handed out to persons as they entered the dance to keep for a memento of the night. Wynn Merriman had a crucial job, to be in charge of all finances for the prom. Months of planning went into making "Midnight Magic" a success, and quite a few seniors were at the Olmsted Center all day decorating on Saturday in preparation for the big night.

Decorations, which created the magical atmosphere, included the colors of black, purple, and silver, carried out in metallic streamers, the "starry night" band backdrop, and the "city skyline" picture setting. Couples could dance in the ballroom under the swirling reflections from the mirrored ball, and surrounded by the glittering lights of small decorated trees and candle-lit tables. Photographers from John Roberts Studios were also on hand to take both candid and formal shots of the couples.

Although the dance ended at 11:30, the evening was by no means over. Most of the couples went on to parties to celebrate one of the highlights of their year for the rest of the night . . . and some of the next day!

Class displays talent in "Teddy Awards"

The senior boys portray life as it might be in five years, at war with Afghanistan, in their act "We Love Roosevelt."

Roosevelt's student body left the school auditorium April 11 impressed by the talents of the senior class which had been displayed in what several teachers called "the best Senior Frolics in years."

Chairpersons Jim Haynie and Joellen Young chose as the theme "The Teddy Awards," patterning the show after the Academy Awards. Six acts were introduced, each by a different pair of seniors, and several commercials were also included. The show opened with a glamorous all-girl chorus number, "There's No Business Like Show Business." From there on, the audience was delighted by a variety of numbers, ranging from Eric Hagen's juggling to a selection from "A Chorus Line" sung by Casey Gradischnig.

More than 60 seniors participated in the Frolics. Most were included in the mixed chorus number, "Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better." Dana Mintzer and Andrea Goodwin directed this act and had the heavy responsibility of organizing 60 often unruly seniors into a chorus that could (at least to some extent) carry a tune.

The show ended with the senior boys' chorus number, "We Love Roosevelt." Finally, all members of the cast appeared for the grand finale and an unexpected number which was added at the last minute (to the surprise of Mrs. Hyde), Pink Floyd's "Brick in the Wall." This act brought to a close an hour of surprisingly good entertainment, one which provided a great time for both participants and viewers.

PFC honors 84 seniors at annual banquet

Roosevelt's Parent Faculty Club (PFC) once again recognized outstanding seniors at its annual banquet, held May 7 in the school cafeteria.

More than 75 students of the class of 1980 were honored for their achievements and contributions to the school.

Among those invited were presidents of school clubs, editors of school publications, and others who had displayed leadership and performed services for Roosevelt. Also outstanding scholars, such as National Merit Finalists, those in the top 5 per cent of the class, and one top student in each department of the school were commended. Those seniors who were captains of sports teams and cheerleading squads were honored as well.

These students included Ronald Adcock, Cynthia Anderson, Deann Andrews, Melodie Barkley, Mary Jane Bear, Jill Bennett, Elizabeth Blanks, Julia Boyle, Eric Brandser, Donald Branjord, and Deborah Burns.

Also invited were Scott Butterfield, Janine Calland, Steven Canine, William Carr, Ann Copley, David Cramer, Danielle Cutler, Jeannette Dahl, De Anne Davis, Ricky DeCarlo, Laura Dechant, Patty Derrickson, and Diana Dickinson.

Jill Downing, Tracy Engman, John Fontanini, Randall Gates, Lewis Grady, Chris Grimes, Susan Guthrie, Ross Hartline, James Hickman, Theresa Humphries, Jay Jackson, Sonya Jackson, Mark Jacobs, Deborah James, Rhonda Jesperson, Cheryl Johnson, and John Kalainov attended as well.

In addition, Kristin Kalsem, Karen Kelley, Dennis Kelly, Jerome Kingkade, August Landis, Dolores LaPole, Jean Larson, Karen Levine, Chelon Long, Mary MacKinnon, Patricia McGinnis, Karin McKinney, Brent Mellecker, and Wynn Merryman were honored.

Also commended were Jeanne Michel, Lucy Minkler, Jennifer Mitchell, Terry Mitchell, Kitty O'Keefe, Pam Oldham, Lynda Paxton, Sarah Perry, Keith Petrak, Caryll Petre, Nicole Pierce, Madeline Pogal, and Joe Quinn.

Kathy Rehder, David Robinson, Elizabeth Rodgers, Rochelle Rollison, John Ruble, Patty Sargent, Kathy Schwartz, Julie Smith, Bill Sullivan, Phil Templeton, Dona Thomas, Liz Thomas, Steven Walters, Susan Worley, Randy Zenian, and Mary Zielke were honored also.

Class night ceremony recognizes scholars

Seniors wound up their years of study at Roosevelt on May 15 with their last final, and those who had excelled during those years were honored that evening at the annual Class Night. Pam Oldham and Shelly Rollison headed the event at which honor cords for those in the upper 3 and 15% of the class were distributed as well as dozens of scholarships and other achievement awards won by seniors. Superintendent Awards for one student in each department were awarded. Principal Bruce Gardner, in his last year at TRHS, had a few words to say to the seniors as did class president John Kalainov. Class vice-president Susan Guthrie carried out the traditional passage of the big stick, transferring the authority to the representative of the junior class, Joanie Heggen. Susan was also the winner of the Cress Hoyt award, given each year to the senior who was of outstanding service to TRHS. Following the ceremony, the seniors and their parents proceeded to the cafeteria where they enjoyed refreshments and exchanged congratulations.

Class says aloha at Senior Breakfast

If an unsuspecting soul would have wandered past the Roosevelt cafeteria in the early morning of May 16, he would have witnessed an unbelievably rowdy bunch of seniors decked out in Hawaiian attire, munching fresh fruit, and enjoying the music of the "famous" "Third Rate."

No, the natives weren't getting restless, it was only the 1980 Senior Breakfast! Chaired by Julie Boyle, Charlotte Hemminger, and Caryll Petre, the event was one of the seniors' last chances to have fun together before leaving TRHS. The theme of the function was "We're Gonna Go Hawaiian," and was carried out all the way from the palm tree and tissue flower decorations to the fresh pineapple, strawberries, and bananas served. While the seniors enjoyed the food, the chairpersons of the event entertained them by reading the winners of categories in a senior poll distributed to the students a week earlier. Categories ranged from "Who Had The Best Party" (Jim and Joe Coy) to "Most Likely To Succeed" (Steve Walters and Kristin Kalsem.) Roosevelt's own amateur rock group "Third Rate" was also present, and delighted the some 350 students and teachers with selections such as "Cocaine" and "Rapper's Delight." Afterwards, the seniors proceeded to Line of March practice in preparation for graduation, now only three days away!

GRADUATION

Mary Jane Bear — I sure am glad they are doing this in alphabetical order!

Matt Bogart—I wish they would get on with this, so I can cross the stage before Mr. Treman gets hold of my attendance record!

John Kalainov—I don't know what everyone else is so nervous about—I have to give a speech!

Edit Prusak—Oy Vey!

Jack Sullivan— Here I am, an "S" and an "Su" at that!

Mike Zeller—Finally . . .

1980

"This thing would be a cinch if it weren't for this stupid hat!" exclaims a frustrated Randy Gates.

The Commencement ceremonies for the 1980 graduating class took place on Monday, May 19, at 8 p.m. at Vet's Auditorium.

But the actual activities at Vet's had begun around 7 p.m., when the graduates-to-be started gathering in the basement of Vets. This scene could easily be summed up as utter nervous chaos. It was a time when seniors were trying to remember what homeroom they were in, girls were trying to look appealing with those unflattering hats on their heads, boys were trying to act like they didn't care . . .

As usual, Mrs. Hyde and Mr. Curnutt managed to corral the group and get them arranged in a civilized manner.

The band played the ceremonial prelude as the seniors marched in. Then Principal Bruce Gardner welcomed everyone.

This year's speaker was Mary Louise Smith, former national chairman of the Republican Party.

Mr. Earl Bridgewater, Executive Director of Personnel, presented the class for graduation, and over 350 seniors received their diplomas, representing 12 years of hard work.

John Kalainov, president of the Senior Class, presented Mr. Gardner a plaque in honor of his retirement. Susan Guthrie, winner of the Cress Hoyt award, was announced.

Mrs. Hyde and Mr. Curnutt find the graduates very funny looking in those hats.

ACTIVITIES

Jeanne Michel Crowned Homecoming Queen

The excitement sparked by Roosevelt's "fictional" Homecoming began Friday afternoon with an all-school assembly. The 1979 theme of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" completely dominated the atmosphere. The assembly included short pep talks given by the football captains and a skit performed by the Mimes, cleverly titled "There's No Place Like Homecoming." The climax of the assembly was the crowning of the 1979 Homecoming Queen, Jeanne Michel, escorted by Joe Coy.

Other members of the Homecoming Court included Cheryl Johnson, Lynda Paxton, Shelley Rollison, and Jean Van Horn. Shelly Reed was the junior attendant, Angie Fie served as the sophomore attendant, and Amy Longnecker was chosen to represent the freshman class.

Later that evening, at the annual car rally, Jamie Hickman, Brent Mellecker, and Doug Hiemstra won first place with their "Odin Rides Again" float. Second place went to John Kalainov for his "Deathmobile."

The winning cars then led the parade across town to Williams Field, where the Roughriders football team easily defeated Tech, 27-0.

The following night, approximately 400 students attended the Homecoming dance in the boys gym. "The Last Shades of Dawn" provided music for listening and dancing pleasure.

The gym had been transformed into the Land of Oz, and rainbows provided dazzling color. A crystal mirror ball hung from the ceiling created a mystical, make-believe atmosphere. The Tin Man, the Lion, Dorothy, and the Good Witch of the West aided in serving food throughout the evening in the Student Center, which had been transformed into Emerald City. Sparkling punch flowed in a lighted silver fountain, and pink cotton candy was given away.

This year's Homecoming was a great success, and it allowed Roosevelt students to escape for a weekend into a land of make-believe.

French Club takes a gourmet excursion for dinner at Omaha's French Cafe

One of the highlights this year for the French Club was when Omaha's "French Cafe" welcomed 60 Roosevelt club members for an authentic French dinner on April 17. "It was as close to France as we could get for $18," commented president Jennifer Mitchell.

The 60 people who went to Omaha constitute less than one third of the club membership. French Club is the largest club at Roosevelt, with about 200 members.

Besides being the largest and one of the more active groups at Roosevelt, French Club is famous for its Fall Bake Sale, which features all sorts of French goodies. This year the bake sale brought in over $100 for the club "kitty."

Other annual activities include fall and spring picnics, hosted this year by Kristin Kalsem and Brigid McBride.

One of the most successful activities is the Annual French Club Progressive Dinner, which is usually held around Christmas time. Participants start at one house for hor d'oeuvres, progress to a second for soup, a third for salad, a fourth for the main course, and finally to dessert. This year, as always, the dinner was delicious and fun for everyone.

Most activities were planned by the officers, and then approved by Mr. Gary Thelen, the club's sponsor. The officers are Jennifer Mitchell, president; Kristin Kalsem, 1st vice-president; Karen Levine, 2nd vice-president; Doug Reynolds, secretary; and Dennis Kelly, treasurer.

"Los Jintes" entertains King kids

The approximately 30 members of the Roosevelt Spanish Club participated in many activities this past year.

One of the more active groups at Roosevelt, the group met, on the average, one to two times a month.

The group started its yearly activities by entering a cake in the Krazy Kake Kontest.

Fifteen of the members had an authentic taco dinner at the Spanish-oriented Christmas party. Mr. Pratt, sponsor of the club, read a Spanish fable to the members. After the dinner they sang a few Spanish songs, with Mr. Pratt accompanying them on his guitar.

The club members also sold Reese's Peanut Butter Cups to raise money for their annual spring picnic.

"Los Jintes" (The Riders), a Spanish singing group made up of club members, sang at King Elementary School. The show was in recognition of Pan American Week. First organized last year, the group has been an enjoyable part of club activities.

The officers of the Spanish Club were Don Branjord, president; Julie Neiman, vice-president; Cindy McGonigle, treasurer; and Laura Branjord, secretary.

Mr. Pratt said, "This year's Spanish Club membership has increased from last year, and I hope that the trend continues."

"I'm glad that membership is up," commented President Branjord. "I thought this year's Spanish Club went pretty well. We had a really great time at the holiday 'fiesta' at Christmas. I also thought that the spring picnic turned out well."

Afro Club hosts mothers

Highlights of the Thursday afterschool meetings of Afro Club were two guest speakers, Brenda Humburd and Niambi Webster. Miss Webster, a dramatic reader, is a Roosevelt graduate.

The most important event was a Mother's Banquet. The proceeds from an after-school sandwich sale helped pay for it.

Marnee Thompson served as the club's president. April Harper was vice-president; Sylvia Henry, secretary; and Pinkie Rife, treasurer. Mrs. Joyce Fant was the club sponsor.

Trail rides for Equestrians

The Equestrian Club continued its promotion of horseback riding for interested Roosevelt students. While they did not sponsor a show this year, they did participate in two trail rides at Baker's Stables, and a hay-rack ride.

As a fund-raising project they sold M & M's to finance next year's plans for either a horse show or a campout.

Karen McCrea served as the club's president this year, with B.J. Newell as vice-president. Mary Avants was secretary, and Lisa Shearer, treasurer. Mr. Keith Carlson was the club's sponsor.

Band members travel 72 hours to view the 'Magical Kingdom'

The Roosevelt Marching Band migrated to Florida to spend an exciting spring vacation this year. Their trip included performances at Disney World, Sea World, and the Harry Anna Children's Hospital. There was plenty of time left for fun too, and most members returned with a sunburn, if not a tan.

The band members started off the season with their annual ice cream social held in late August. Next, they brightened up several football games with performances during half-time. Then the band traveled to Pella, Iowa, for the state marching contest in October. There, they received a "2" rating.

The pep band added enthusiasm during basketball games with its spirited tunes, while the concert band added a touch of class during its winter performance.

The Marching Band ended the season with the Drake Relay and Veishea parades this spring.

The annual band banquet was held at the Botanical Center May 6 where many students were recognized for their special talent. Certificates were awarded to Liz Thomas, Jody Valentine, Glenn Lemons, Kirby Davidson, Karin McKinney, Laura Dechant, Steve Canine, Scott Carson, and Prudence McDaniel.

John Keables served as the drum major. Officers were President Kathy Rehder, Vice-president Russ Borchardt, Secretary Stef Reed, and Treasurer Pam Oldham.

The Roosevelt Band marched and marched during a parade down the avenues of Walt Disney World. The band traveled to Orlando, Florida, over spring vacation.

Colorguard Rifles and Flags perform many routines to marching band music

Tossing their rifles into the atmosphere and twirling their flags through the breeze, the members of Roosevelt's Colorguard drill team livened up many band performances. Beginning in August, Rifle Captain Karin McKinney and Flag Captain Laura Dechant started drilling their squads and making up routines. During football season, the girls were often at Roosevelt's field as early as 7 a.m. perfecting their half-time performances. "It's a lot of work," stated Karin, "because not only do you have to think about what your feet are doing with the music, but you also have to concentrate on what your hands are doing with your rifle or flag." The Colorguard performed with the band at all of the home football games, accompanied them at state marching contest, and led them down many avenues during parade season. Other colorguard activities included performing at the ice cream social, participating in numerous paper drives, and selling cheese, fruit, popcorn, and candy bars for the Florida trip. The flags held a brunch early in the year, and the Rifles, a picnic and slumber party. Clinics and tryouts were held in early May at which new members were selected to replace the graduating seniors.

Jazz Band captures Midwest Championship

The Roosevelt Jazz Band completed another successful year with a record of four first place, one second, and two third place finishes in jazz competition. One of the jazz band's major accomplishments was winning the Midwest Jazz Championships held at Drake University. They also captured first place titles at the Coe College Jazz Festival, Augustana College Jazz Festival, and University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire Jazz Festival.

Another "first" for RJB was attending a non-competitive jazz festival in Wichita, Kansas.

Several members of the band won awards for outstanding solo performances. Winners were Steve Canine, trombone; Liz Thomas, tenor sax; Sam McCrorey, congas; Kirby Davidson, drums; Glenn Lemons, trumpet; and Scott Carson, guitar.

The jazz band program also had another first in the form of a new class—Jazz Band II. Jazz II attended two festivals, Kirksville and Hoover. Four members of Jazz II won awards for outstanding solo performances: Matt Kirschenbaum, guitar; Bill Webster, baritone sax; John Furgerson, tenor sax; and Georgene McCourt, alto sax.

Both jazz bands were under the direction of Mr. Harold Jansen.

Roosevelt orchestra is in the pits, but they are alive and doing fine.

The officers of the orchestra were President, Janine Calland; Vice-President, Jeff Jones; Secretary-Treasurer, Jody Valentine.

The Roosevelt orchestra consisted of 28 spirited musicians who met five days a week during fifth hour, under the direction of Mr. James Brauninger.

The orchestra performed more than 20 programs throughout the year. Mr. Brauninger commented about some of the year's highlights:

"This Roosevelt group, with its strong leadership in all sections, has been a joy to me — so many 'vintage' performances. Our section leaders and assistants were especially capable.

"One of four pianists, Jeff Jones, composed several talented works which we performed. Our gamut of musical activities went from the 'hoe-down' to the Governor's Inauguration at the Capitol Rotunda—from the orchestra picnic to a live performance by the Chicago Symphony in Chicago. Perhaps our most useful concerts were the tri-school promotional concerts in six feeder schools. At the end of the year, we were honored to furnish music for the reception for Mr. Gardner and Dr. Davis."

This year the Concert Chorus, one of the most prestigious vocal music groups at Roosevelt, of selected seniors, juniors, and a few sophomores, sang better than ever. The group, directed by Delbert Schiebel, worked hard to prepare concert material. They started off the year with a special performance for the downtown Kiwanas Christmas program.

Second semester was highlighted by the addition of a new faculty member to the vocal music staff. Mr. Ed Griffith, a senior at Central College in Pella, was the groups' student teacher. During the semester the Concert Chorus performed at Roosevelt, Merrill and Callanan.

A major focus during the year was on contests. On May 2, the 50-plus member group performed for a panel of judges at Lincoln High School. The group received a '2' rating.

The end of the year was a farewell to seniors, as the Concert Chorus performed at graduation.

Auditions for the group were held at the end of the semester with Mr. Schiebel.

Four qualify for all-state

Roosevelt was honored to have four all-state singers this year. All-state is a group for 600 of the best high school singers to get together and perform.

Representing Roosevelt were seniors Edith Karras—alto and Casey Gradischnig—tenor. Juniors Martha Patterson—soprano and Eric Edmund—bass also joined in.

About twelve people originally tried out at Roosevelt. That group was narrowed to the eight best singers in order to form two quartets. Then the two groups went to the state tryouts in Winterset on October 27. After a lot of hard competition, Edie, Casey, Martha, and Eric were chosen to be in the group.

The all-state concert was in Ames on November 17.

Mixed, treble choirs growing

The Mixed Chorus performs at Merrill Junior High School.

The mixed chorus was also a thriving group this year. It was composed of fifty-two Roosevelt students. The group is open to both male and female singers, from ninth to twelfth grades. After preparing their tunes, the mixed chorus sang in the winter and spring concerts as well as at Merrill Junior High and in the state contest.

Mr. Schiebel said, "This year the mixed chorus grew. I was pleased with their progress, and hope they will be as good in the years to come."

Not pictured is the Treble Choir. This group made the most improvement of any vocal music group at TRHS. It is comprised of fifty-three girls from all grades. The highlight of their year was receiving a '2' at contest.

Both groups sing a mixture of tunes, everything from pop, spiritual, and Latin to show tunes.

The Swing Choir at its best—with their mouths wide open!

The Early Dawn (TED for short) is the Roosevelt swing choir. The name was derived because the energetic singers rehearsed from 7:15 to 8:00 a.m., three mornings a week. Many times, they would be singing as the sun was rising.

The group sings, but they also work out routines which combine choreography with close harmony vocals, which makes for entertaining stage appearances.

They perform at nursing homes, Kiwanian dinners, and various other community functions. They also toured the surrounding junior highs and sang at a few elementary schools, along with performing at the two school concerts.

The swing choir sang a wide variety of songs this year. Some of the selections were slow songs, such as "Goin' Outa My Head." Choreographed songs included "Applause," "Life is a song worth singing," and "You made me so very happy." A different kind of tune that they sang was a melody called "Commercials."

Mr. Scheibel said, "The group was a little slow starting and young this year. However, the effort was there and by the end of the year they were acting and singing like pros."

TED was accompanied by Kristin Kalsem and Cindy Anderson.

Next year the group will have a class period for rehearsal. Tryouts will be in the spring.

Roosevelt Singers have good start

The Roosevelt Singers, in line to perform.

A new group was added to the vocal music department this year. They are called the Roosevelt Singers.

The Roosevelt Singers is made up of thirteen female singers, representing all Roosevelt grades. Students are selected for this group by the director, Mr. Schiebel.

Schiebel commented that this was the first year TRHS has had a group of this kind. He added, "The girls sing nicely together. Their tone is good and they blend well. I'm pleased with the way the group turned out."

The group toured with the swing choir, performing at community and social organizations as well as exchange concerts and the schools' winter and spring programs.

The girls sang all types of music. Their choice of songs ranged from popular show tunes to Latin melodies.

David Miller put in long hours as the accompanist this year.

TRHS Mimes are 'heard' everywhere

The Roosevelt Mimes spent considerable time this year promoting the professional mime appearance of Claude Kipnis. To do so they performed street mime at the Civic Center, performed at Merle Hay Mall, made an appearance on the "1,2,3" TV show, and were featured on the back page of the Tribune.

Other appearance sites included the Iowa State Fair, Younkers, several birthday parties, some schools, and a few nursing homes. Of course the Mimes also performed at Roosevelt for assemblies, meetings, and during their two annual Mime Nites.

The fall show, entitled "Mime Impossible," was a take-off of the television program "Mission Impossible." Their more recent show, "The Day the Mimes Stood Still," featured skits such as "Freshmen at TRHS," "Slim Whitman," and "Cocentrics to Black Lights." One of the most unique skits, "Tidy Bowl Man," evoked mixed emotions from the audience.

Serving as Master Mime was Steve Canine. Graduates included Steve, Ann Copley, Keith Petrak, Chelon Long, Dana Mintzer, Mike Thomas, and Pam Oldham. Rich Haesemeyer, Soni Simpson, Aaron Biber, Mac Stanfield, and Kim VerSteeg made up the underclassman portion.

Fall Council sponsors many activities

The Fall Student Council sponsored various activities throughout the first semester under the leadership of President Anne Copley. Other officers included Vice-President Karin McKinney, Secretary Rhonda Jespersen, and Treasurer Sarah Perry.

The council began in late August by setting up a booth for the freshman and sophomore orientation. Here, they answered questions for the newcomers and encouraged them to participate in council events.

During the football season, a mixer was held in the girls gym. A group of Roosevelt musicians supplied the music and Debbie Stine became the proud winner of a giant teddy bear.

Sophomore Robin Ferguson won first place in the annual Pumpkin Carving Contest held on Halloween. Her pumpkin was carved into the likeness of President Jimmy Carter. Second place went to Jeff Quinn and third place to Alyssa Ashe.

Homecoming activities kept the council members busy during late October. At the assembly Jeanne Michel was crowned queen, the football captains gave pep talks, and the Mimes performed a skit. Jamie Hickman, Doug Hiemstra, and Brent Mellecker won first place in the car rally with their float entitled "Odin Rides Again." The famous "Deathmobile," created by John Kalainov also made its first public appearance. Approximately 430 students attended the Homecoming dance. The theme this year was "Somewhere Over the Rainbow."

Senior Randy Gates designed the cover for the 1980 Roosevelt phone directories. They went on sale for 60 cents each in early November.

A poll was taken in mid-November to determine the desires of Roosevelt students. A School Improvement Committee, chaired by Karin McKinney, was set up to meet these needs.

Thanks to President Anne Copley, radio music flowed through the halls before and after school almost every day.

The student council not only worked for the benefit of Roosevelt students, but for members of the community as well. They donated $320 to the Variety Club of Iowa. This money was raised through the profits from their basketball mixer. This mixer provided not only dancing, but roller skating as well.

According to Anne Copley, "The semester was a great success!"

Spring council meets its goals

Purchasing high school pennants, donating $582 to the Variety Club of Iowa, hosting the Ottumwa council, sponsoring a successful Fun Nite, and giving $100 for the promotion of Roosevelt's Arts Fair were just some of the activities that kept the spring council busy. The council also fought and won battles for parking on Center Street and for self-scheduling next semester.

Serving as officers were President Karin McKinney, Vice-president Cyndi Murray, Secretary Madeline Pogal, and Treasurer Rhonda Jesperson. The officers decided to select grade representatives to help plan activities at the weekly board meetings. Representatives were Sonya Jackson, Patty Sullivan, Lisa Kiser, and Chris Winship.

During the early spring months dedicated council members belonging to the Pep and Spirit Committee met to design locker posters for the boys swimming and girls gymnastic teams.

Later in the semester, the Community Project Committee decorated, filled, and delivered 24 May baskets to a retirement home. This committee also sponsored a ski-a-thon, swim-a-thon, walk-a-thon, and dance-a-thon for various charities.

The council ended the year with an award breakfast which was held in the library. According to Karin, approximately 30 students were honored and given certificates for their help throughout the semester. Karin stated, "I think the award breakfast was a perfect way to end the year. Everyone that attended deserves a lot of credit. We all worked together very well, and not only met our goals, but went beyond them."

The theater always has an intense attraction for the students of Roosevelt, a school that has produced such notable professionals as Cloris Leachman. This year was no exception—the year was excellent.

Not only were all three plays very successful, but the Drama Club sponsored many diverse and interesting projects.

This year's officers were Cindy Anderson, president; David Higgins, vice-president; DeeAnn Andrews, secretary; Soni Simpson, scribe; Aaron Biber, treasurer. There was also a play selection committee which included Stephen Higgins, Kim VerSteeg, and Mike Thomas. R.C. Anderson was, of course, the sponsor.

The Thespian Club is an International Honorary Drama Society. To be a member requires many hours of drama activities, such as plays and working on crews. Roosevelt has 11 members.

Antics in fall play provide big laughs

What do you get with a famous but cantankerous and sarcastic reviewer, his pretty young secretary, an impatient host and a flighty hostess, a prissy old nurse, and a case of penguins all under one roof?

You get this year's hilarious fall play, Moss Hart and George Kaufman's "The Man Who Came to Dinner," a delightful satire on the "beautiful people."

The play centers around Sheridan Whiteside, the testy, overbearing reviewer, who is later revealed as an "old softie." Whiteside was portrayed by David Higgins with his usual hilarity and unusual ability.

Whiteside turns the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, played by John Langdon and June Reinboth, upside down, when he moves in after slipping on their front steps, and breaking his hip. Moving in with Whiteside is his pretty, young secretary, Maggie Cutler, convincingly portrayed by Kim VerSteeg.

The plot thickens when handsome, all-American Bert Jefferson, editor of the local newspaper, played by Jim Haynie, arrives on the scene. Maggie immediately falls head over heels. She plans to marry Jefferson, which sends Whiteside into a fit and makes him resolve to break them up.

The "helpless" Whiteside is pampered by his friends.

Kim VerSteeg and Aaron Biber engage in a little harmless flirtation.

Enter Lorraine Sheldon, a beautiful, self-centered, flirtatious actress wonderfully characterized by Cindy Anderson, who willingly allies herself with Whiteside.

The play climaxes when Mr. Stanley finally gets fed up with Whitesides' ceaseless antics, his penguins from Marlan Perkins, his exorbitant transatlantic calls and his incessant meddling, and tells him in no uncertain terms, to remove himself immediately!

Meanwhile the audience has found out that the quack doctor, played by Bill Sullivan, has confused some x-rays and Whiteside has never had a broken hip at all.

All good things must come to an end but this one was particularly appropos. As Whiteside is leaving the Stanley house once and for all . . . you guessed it—he slips on the front steps, and breaks his hip—this time for real!

'South Pacific' warms the winter months.

Roosevelt students were provided with a special treat this winter — a visit to the South Pacific.

"South Pacific," the drama department's musical show for the year was fun for the performers as well as the audience.

The play gave an opportunity for a wide variety of performances. From the ribald sailors' chorus line to the tender love scenes of Nellie and Emile to the illfated romance of Lt. Cable and Liat, Roosevelt talent was shown at its best.

Ensign Nellie Forbush was played by Martha Patterson, and hero Emile DeBeque by Eric Edmund.

Other main characters were Luther Billis, played by David Higgins; Bloody Mary, played by Cindy Anderson; Lt. Cable, by Phil Lehl; and Liat, by Madeline Pogal.

Both drama and music departments were instrumental in producing the play. Mr. R. C. Anderson was the main director. Musical direction was by Mr. Del Schiebel, vocal, and Mr. Harold Jansen, orchestra. Mr. Art Holcomb was the technical director, and Roosevelt alumnae Carol Blome and Jody Keck were choreographers.

Keith Petrak demonstrates his dancing ability.

War in the Pacific brings a meeting "across a crowded room" for Martha Patterson and Eric Edmund.

Journalism Clubs gain members

The journalism club and Quill and Scroll honor society both had a thriving year, under the leadership of sponsor Don Haley.

The journalism club, is open to all interested journalism students. The officers included Mary Jane Bear—president; Jon Foreman—vice president; Kristin Kalsem—secretary; and Don Branjord—treasurer.

The club had two major projects. The first was a journalism convention in Iowa City. Over thirty Roughriders attended the day of learning in October.

The second project was a fundraiser. The club attempted to sell plastic yearbook covers for fifty cents each, with only moderate success.

The Quill and Scroll honor society is for qualified juniors and seniors. Julie Boyle was the only returning member, but after successful recruiting measures, it was increased by eight hundred percent. An installation party was held in February.

'Up with the Arts' is theme for Fair

The Roosevelt Art Club held its fifth annual Arts Fair Friday, May 2. The theme chosen for this year was "Up with the Arts." Mary Zielke, co-president, stated, "I think the theme is great; it carries through the original purpose of the fair—to show all arts at Roosevelt."

Randy Gates assisted Mary as the other co-president and Dani Cutler served as secretary/treasurer.

Thirty-Eight students participated in the Arts Fair festivities, most of them being juniors and seniors enrolled in the advanced art classes. All of the art was displayed in the first floor halls, front foyer, and library, beginning at 8 a.m. and ending at 4 p.m.

Students sat at booths answering questions about their work, demonstrating techniques, and occasionally even selling a few pieces.

An added attraction to this year's fair was the department of industrial art's computer display. Another interesting and entertaining aspect was the live performances of various groups and individuals in the form of vocal and instrumental programs. These acts were performed in the library and halls.

The main objective of the Arts Fair was to allow art students an opportunity to share their talent and art work with the student body, faculty, friends, and parents. And, according to Dani, "It's a good opportunity for the department to show what we've done."

"Up with the Arts" was sponsored by the four art teachers, Mr. George Hans, Mrs. Susan Lewis, Mrs. Judy Milligan, and Miss Debbie Wright.

The Fall Roundup kept the school informed on current events and opinions

The fall Roundup staff, under the leadership of Julie Boyle, Editor, and Mark Heggen, Managing Editor, worked on showing Roosevelt's opinions with the use of pro and con editorials, and the use of polls taken of students opinions.

Some of the more interesting articles featured in the fall Roundup were an interview with the new teachers; a feature on the Pope's visit, including Roosevelt students' opinions; a poll about Des Moines; and editorials on such important issues as "Smoking on Campus; Obey or Not?"

There was also a special issue featuring a ninth grade page. All the work done on that page was the project of the new freshman class.

Under the direction of editor Susan Guthrie and managing editor Scott Carson, the spring Roundup staff set out to improve the overall style and make-up of the school newspaper.

The staff set up "beats" to try to cover all the news before it happened. Short follow-up stories were then written for improved coverage. Heading up the news sections on the paper were Mary Jane Bear, page one editor, and Kristin Kalsem, page four editor. Their assistants were Dan Matthews, on page one, and Laura Murphy on page four.

Tough stands on the draft registration and credit to athletes headlined some of the enlightening editorials for the paper. Editorial page editor Mike Thomas, who filled the gaps with humorous columns, was assisted by Greg Forney. As a special feature, cartoonist John Hayes supplied the spring Roundup with some excellent work.

Sports editor Melody Barkley was assisted by her brother Marty. Together, the two were kept busy every weekend covering all Roosevelt sports action.

The business side of the paper was headed by Business Manager Karen Levine. Advertising Manager Laurie Baker and her assistant, Cori Fredericks, sold more ads for the Roundup than usual for the spring semester. Cindy Scott, circulation manager, also lent a helping hand on the business side of the paper.

Finally, Mr. Donald Haley suffered through the good and the bad to once again sponsor the spring Roundup.

A small staff of 8 members worked long and hard to compile this years 'Action'

"Action in the eighties" was the theme for the 16th volume of Action Magazine.

Seven students taking Journalism 3 comprise this year's staff. The members were Jeanne Michel, Editor; Kris Forney, Assistant Editor and patron sales; Don Branjord, Business and Circulation Manager; Karin McKinney, Fiction Editor; Jeannie Dahl, Poetry and Drama Editor; Julie Boyle, Non-fiction Editor; and Kirby Davidson, Art Editor.

The staff had a hard time selecting entries of fiction, non-fiction, and poetry to publish, as much of the work submitted was very good. The selection of material is made without knowing the identity of the writer. Mr. Don Haley, sponsor, took the name off the work and replaced it with a number, so that the work was judged on content, not by author.

Seven make UN journey

"What initially interested me was the idea of getting a taste of two very important and different US cities," stated Martha Patterson about the United Nations trip.

Martha, Sally Vorbrich, Krista Riddley, Tom King, Todd Easley, Mary Ann Jester, and Lori Longnecker spent spring vacation in Washington and New York City. In New York they visited the Empire State Building, the Statue of Liberty, Rockefeller Center, and the UN. They also had time for shopping and a Broadway musical.

In Washington they viewed the Kennedy Center, the FBI building, and the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. They were also briefed by Congressman Neal Smith and Senators Roger Jepsen and John Culver.

The trip was made by bus with students from other Des Moines high schools.

JA members win honors

Selling jumper cables was a typical activity of RHS students involved in Junior Achievement. JA is a non-profit activity which allows students to gain knowledge and experience in business, under the direction of business executives.

Senior Cheryl Danielson, a member of "Trustbuilders Company," explained that each company obtains a charter, sells stock, and produces and sells a product or service.

Sixty such companies in Des Moines met one day per week for two hours or more at the JA headquarters.

As usual, the Roosevelt group won many honors. Larry Camp and Scott Dowie were finalists for State President of the Year, and Linda Paxton was a scholarship winner, among others.

Forty-five senior girls put Roosevelt students 'In the Mood' for fun

The senior girls once again carried out the tradition of providing a holiday dance free of charge for the entire school in their presentation of "In the Mood" December 22. Held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Savery, the dance was funded by $25 patron contributions from over 45 girls.

Chairpersons of the dance seniors Liz Rodgers and Julie Boyle chose a 1940's theme and obtained the group "Johnny Mattlett and the Proteus Band," which specializes in Big Band music, to correlate with the atmosphere. Julie said, "We thought the Big Band theme would be a nice change and fit in well with the Grand Ballroom's classy decor."

The dance was also enhanced by the appearance of Santa Claus, free refreshments, and decorations of winter silver, black, and red.

Debbie Perry and John Keables went in style.

Matt Norris and Ann Kelly take a short break from the dancing.

"All I want for Christmas is a shorter tongue," sings Chelon Long.

"Let's see how many juniors it takes to squish Santa Claus," joke Kim Stoffer, Soni Simpson, and Marilyn Platt.

"Do you think they would let us do a Colgate commercial?" ask a smiling Liz Rodgers and John Hayes.

Debaters have their greatest season—travelling, hosting and winning

The debate team experienced its most successful year ever in 1980. As a team they accumulated over 250 trophies. They won sweepstakes seven times, which means the team had the highest combined total points in a tournament. They also qualified four people for the National Debate Tournament held in Huntsville, Alabama, in June.

The debaters are easily recognized at Roosevelt. They are the group ALWAYS found near Room 114, dressed in three piece suits or skirts EVERY Friday, and usually toting a massive briefcase or a sleeping bag.

They travel every weekend from the middle of October to the end of March, and for the senior debaters and Coach Donna Siers, that includes Thanksgiving and Christmas.

This year the debaters received national recognition. Over Christmas vacation Eric Brandser and Kristin Kalsem won the "Superbowl of Debate," held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. This was a highly respected national competition; hence, it received publicity all over the nation.

As a result of the Superbowl, Kristin and Eric received an invitation to compete at the Churchillian Classic in Philadelphia. They were flown there in WHO's Lear jet, and they placed third in the tournament. The semi-final round was held in Philadelphia's famous City Hall.

Mike Zeller and Mike Mankins were also very successful for Roosevelt. They broke to elimination rounds in almost every tournament, and won the Iowa State University tournament.

Another area for the debate team is in Individual Events, and here too Roosevelt was excellent. Under the direction of Bob Marks, who voluntarily gave his time to help Mrs. Siers coach more than 45 students, the "interpers" were successful everywhere they went. Mac Stanfield, who did Humorous Interpretation, won every tournament that he entered except two. Kim VerSteeg did Dramatic Interpretation, and was also very successful. Mac and Kim both qualified for nationals.

A new event added to the circuit was called Lincoln-Douglas debate. Mary Jane Bear was the team's strength in that area.

Other graduating seniors on the team included Arthur Orduna, Janet Hess, Edit Prusak, and Matt Bogart.

Roosevelt also hosted the State Tournament in February.

Sharks Club presents "Hollywood Hotel"

Row 3: Angie Soener, Kathy Shuck, Sherry Zickel, Barb Mazie, Monica Hoffman, Barb McFadyen, Kris McKinney, Tiffany Strandberg, Brigid McBride.

The Shark Club's annual pageant was entitled "Hollywood Hotel" this year. The show consisted of music from past and present Hollywood movies, opening with "Hurray for Hollywood" and closing with "That's Entertainment." Jim Haynie served as the emcee at all three showings, April 10, 11, and 12.

To prepare for the performances, the Sharks Club began walking through their routines in January and started water practice in February. A month and a half before the pageant date the dedicated Sharks arrived at school as early as 6 a.m. for practice.

To aid in the financial aspects, the club sold food items such as bagels and ice cream after school.

Highlights of the pageant included "Shaft" which was performed by the five officers, and "The Man with the Golden Gun" performed by President Chelon Long. During the finale, the girls were surprised by several boys who joined in with their own brand of talent.

During the pageant, Barb Barrett was announced the "Outstanding Senior Shark" and the sponsor, Mrs. Rhea Bagdonas, was given special thanks.

Officers for the 25-member club were President Chelon Long, 1st Vice-president Sara Savage, 2nd Vice-president Juli Stone, Secretary Lucy Minkler, and Treasurer and Publicity Chairperson Barbie Barrett.

Scholars win national honors

Twenty Roosevelt students scored in the upper 5 per cent of the nation in the PSAT/NMSQT tests. Eight of these students became National Merit Semi-Finalists: David Cramer, Danielle Cutler, Jean Larson, Pam Oldham, Keith Petrak, Kathy Rehder, Bill Sullivan, and Randy Zenian. To become a Semi-Finalist students had to score in the top one-half of one percent in the state's senior class.

Seven students were then chosen as National Merit Finalists. These were David Cramer, Danielle Cutler, Jean Larson, Pam Oldham, Kathy Rehder, Bill Sullivan, and Randy Zenian. The students were judged on principal's recommendation, academic rating, self-evaluation, and SAT test scores.

Ultimate National Merit Scholarship winners were David Cramer, Jean Larson, Pam Oldham, Kathy Rehder, Bill Sullivan, and Randy Zenian.

Nine commended students had high PSAT scores but did not qualify as semi-finalists. They were Beth Blanks, Julie Boyle, Debbie Burns, Michelle Henneberg, Kristin Kalsem, Jeanne Michel, Arthur Orduna, David Robinson, and Steve Walters.

Randy Gates, because of his artistic talent, was nominated as a Presidential Scholar, one of only a thousand high school students in the United States to receive that honor.

"R" Club sponsors blood drive

The "R" Club began this year a little differently than any other. Shortly before the school year began, a "Big-pal-Little-pal" picnic was held on the school's front lawn. Each underclassman received a sack lunch as well as valuable advice and friendliness from an upperclassman who was assigned to serve as a big-pal.

Next "R" Club held its annual Fall Fest. There skits were performed by the chairpersons to explain the functions of each committee, encouraging students to join.

During football season, "R" Club held its annual Krazy Kake Kontest. Barbie Barrett and Christy Whitmore were the winners with their cake, "Deduck Dowling."

Halloween and Thanksgiving brought more "R" Club activities with Goblin Greetings and Canned Food Drive.

The riders seemed to enjoy themselves at the Rider Roast.

Jim Haynie bravely suffers pain in order to donate blood.

The "R" Club bids a fond farewell to the 1980 Riders.

There is apprehension on the faces of the Riders as they await their turn to be "roasted."

The basketball players were "pampered" through the season with locker posters, telegrams, and goodies. Also a highlight of the "R" Club year was their Rider Roast held in the spring. The "R" Club members held a breakfast for the players and tried to find cute, embarrassing tales about them.

With Valentines Day came two functions, the Valentine Sending Service and the Daddy Daughter Dinner. This year the dinner was held at the Botanical Center and the theme was "Just You and Me Kid."

The Mr. Legs Contest held in January was won by Mike Easley.

The highlight of "R" Club's year comes with Spree. The Man of the Year Contest, held the week before the dance, was won by David Higgins. He was presented with his crown at the dance. This year's theme was "All That Jazz."

The title of most beautiful baby was easily captured by adorable Jon Wolter sitting in his little bucket.

A new project entered into their curriculum this year—a blood drive. Over sixty people volunteered their blood, which was contributed to the Community Blood Bank.

The year ended with the "R" Club elections. The winning girls were Joannie Heggen, president; Suzanne King, vice-president; Meg Murphy, secretary; and Cindi Murray, treasurer.

Installation was May 7, when the old members ushered in the new.

The retiring officers were Cheryl Johnson, president; Caryll Petre, vice-president; Julie Boyle, secretary; and Shelley Rollison, treasurer.

Roaring twenties theme for Spree

March madness descended on Roosevelt, courtesy of "R" Club, as that service group went social and presented its annual Spinsters' Spree.

Themed as "All That Jazz," it wasn't enough that the girls invited the boys—they also costumed everyone in garb of the Roaring Twenties.

David Higgins was named "Man of the Year" in the annual beef-cake competition for glamorous males, over tough competition from Augie Landis, Brent Mellecker, and Phil Templeton. Clever biographies of the candidates, accompanied by big-screen pictures, made the Spree assembly memorable, and the crowning of the "Man" was the highlight of the Saturday night dance.

"Luxury" played for the dancing, teachers manned roulette and blackjack tables, and refreshments were served in a student center disguised as the Tropicana Club.

Toy balloons were sold, guys and dolls lined up for picture taking, and the "bottom line" was "great party," thanks to "R" Club planning.

Teddy's Spirit is revived in annual

The 1980 yearbook is easily distinguished from many of the former Roosevelt yearbooks, in that it has a very definite and predominant theme— "The Spirit of Teddy Roosevelt."

The theme is found scattered throughout the book, illustrated by Teddy quotes, cowboy hats, lassos, and sketches of Roosevelt.

The book begins with a light touch of the theme with the cartoon depicting Teddy's spirit. It concludes with an old Roosevelt grad, dressed up in a Teddy costume. And in the middle is the Teddy Tribute. The tribute gives a history of both Roosevelt the man and Roosevelt the school. The two-page spread is covered with pictures of Roosevelt's students from its opening in the 1920's, to the present.

The yearbook staff is easily identified as the ones who are found crawling out of the building at wee hours of the night and walking around in the summer with no tan (they spend the sunny days in Room 146).

RHS staff gets aid from ambitious kids

One of the most potent forces in keeping Roosevelt running smoothly is the work of numerous volunteer groups of students.

The office staff bustles around the office, picking up attendance slips, answering the telephone, and running the switchboard.

The stage crew builds sets for plays, tears down old sets, and operates the stage for various assemblies and meetings.

Checking out books is the main duty of the library assistants.

The audio-visual crew works with movies, tapes, etc., keeping them in good condition and transporting them back and forth from classrooms.

One nurse for 1,500 accident-prone, often sickly students seems hardly enough, but some of Mrs. Anhorn's duties are performed by her dedicated assistants.

All of these crews, consisting of volunteers, play a vital role in the functioning of our complex school.

For Roosevelt, "The Night of January 16" arrives in April

"The Night of January 16" didn't arrive at Roosevelt until April 25 and 26. The reason—those were the dates set by the drama department for its annual spring play.

"The Night of January 16" is a rather unusual play, with all of the action taking place in a courtroom. Although there were few props and no elaborate costumes, the tense murder trial atmosphere kept the audience continually in suspense.

The "jurors" were selected from the audience each night and were responsible for delivering the verdict. Thus, the outcome of the play varied each evening. The opening night Karen Andre, portrayed by Anne Copley, was found "not-guilty." The following night she was found "Guilty."

Major roles were played by Dave Higgins as Judge Heath, Aaron Biber as DA Flint, and John Langdon as DA Stevens.

Janet Hess played the very emotional role of Nancy Lee Faulkner, the victim's wife. Her father was played by Charlie Oehlswager. Jim Haynie took on the role of the gangster-type Larry Reagan.

Other actors included Joellen Young, Mary Frizell, Jan Davis, Andy Mason, Tim Schultz, Mac Stanfield, Pinkie Rife, Keith Petrak, Steph Higgins, Cindy Anderson, DeeAnn Andrews, Phil Lehl, Madeline Pogal, Vicki Uitermarkt, Dale Young, and Erik Andrews.

Travelers love art, sights, and gelati

Romantic gondola rides in Venice, hiking in the Alps of Austria, and an all-day cruise to three Greek Islands were only a few of the favorite activities of the 1979 American Institute of Foreign Study summer European trip.

Approximately 80 Roosevelt students joined students and teachers from Valley, Lincoln, Hoover, and Minneapolis to tour seven countries in five weeks.

The group left Des Moines July 6 on an all-night flight to Rome. After a week there, the students traveled to Athens, Greece, where they visited the Acropolis and chartered a boat for an all-day cruise to the Greek islands Hydra, Poros, and Aegina.

Next it was back to Italy for stops in Florence and Venice. Florence was a favorite place for many because of the beautiful art, excellent shopping, and delicious "gelati" (the famous Italian soft ice cream).

Kuchl, Austria (a village near Salzburg), was next on the itinerary. The students had almost a full week of relaxation among the gorgeous mountains and forests of Austria. One day, the entire group enjoyed a picnic in the mountains.

Next was Paris! There the travelers spent a week visiting monuments, parks, and art museums.

The final major stop was London. Here the group enjoyed shopping, going to several shows on stage, and knowing the language!

The trip wasn't all fun, however. The students were required to take some art and history classes. Many took the courses for college credit.

TRHS faculty members who served as counselors were Mr. Herb Hantz, Mrs. Judy Milligan, Mrs. Marion Kempkes, and Mr. Dick Hewins. President of the Des Moines chapter was, for the eleventh year, Mr. Dick Treman.

Teachers and students alike enjoyed the trip immensely, saying it was well worth the money and sleep that it cost them. They all loved the cultural experiences, and many say they plan to return as soon as possible!

Ski Club gets exercise at Steamboat Springs

The Roosevelt Ski Club loaded up its gear in February, and traveled to the Haystack Lodge in Steamboat Springs. There members enjoyed a fun-filled week-end of not only skiing, but shopping and dining as well.

President Jim Haynie, along with Band Director Harold Jansen, had planned to have the Ski Club members back in Des Moines in time for first hour classes Monday, February 18. However, due to hazardous road conditions, the buses arrived two hours later than expected, or at approximately 10 o'clock.

Despite the delay, most students had a wonderful time. According to Junior Cyndi Murray, "I sprained my knee and still had the best time of my life!"

TEDDY

Theodore Roosevelt was born on October 29, 1858, in New York City. This wasn't the birth of just any man—it was the beginning of a legend. Roosevelt did everything from writing scholarly books to hunting lions in Africa. He hobnobbed with kings and sparred with the heavyweight boxing champion. He was a police chief, a soldier, a first-rate natural scientist, a state legislator, and a state governor—and the twenty-sixth President of the United States.

Roosevelt himself best summed up his life when he said, "I'm always willing to pay the piper when I have had a good dance; and every now and then, I like to drink the wine of life with brandy in it."

Roosevelt died at the age of sixty on January 6, 1919. . .

but his memory was preserved with the founding of Roosevelt . . .

The founders of Roosevelt

In 1923, the name Roosevelt meant the best in the great traditions of America. The passage of 57 years has not changed these standards. The school has carried out Teddy's spirit in functions like pep assemblies, football games, senior frolics, Roosevelt sweatshirts, T-shirts, buttons and cowboy hats . . . and last but not least, Roosevelt parties.

ACADEMICS

Board, Administration take action

The problems confronting the school board this year had a wide impact on Roosevelt students, as well as the whole community.

Declining enrollment continued to be a major concern as the board tackled the problem in the high schools. The only feasible solution seemed to be combining Tech and North High Schools. Plans were made to move the students, teachers, and equipment of Tech to North in the near future.

The board also made a major push for developing the best possible education for all students.

Emphasis was placed on the Talented and Gifted program, with the hope of a better range of activities. An effort to cutback "non-essential" activities to conserve energy was started. Finally, the search began to find a new superintendent to replace Dr. Dwight Davis, who left for a new job at the end of the year.

Roosevelt's administration, under the leadership of Principal Bruce Gardner, successfully integrated nearly 400 ninth graders and some 24 teachers into senior high. A stricter discipline policy was instituted, with special emphasis on enforcing the no-smoking policy.

Attendance continued to be a major concern, and parents of absent students were notified hourly as attendance slips arrived in the office. A special drive by Vice-Principals Hyde and Curnutt cut down on the number of students in the halls during classes.

The administration cooperated with student council's move to bring back self scheduling. Also, since teachers were given numbered parking spaces and student lots were overcrowded, council and administration were able to convince city authorities to allow parking on Center Street.

For Mr. Gardner it was his last year before retirement, and at the end of the school term students and faculty were awaiting the assignment of a new principal.

Money and truancies handled in office

These three ladies probably have the three most familiar faces in school to those Roosevelt students who are late, sickly, have many appointments, are popular on the telephone, or just plain in trouble.

Mrs. Maertz, the principal's secretary, handles correspondence and keeps track of budget expenditures.

Mrs. Robinette is in charge of all the money. All financial transactions, from French Club's subsidization of a trip to Omaha to sales for tickets to the South Pacific, go through her office.

Mrs. Ash is better known by her voice than her face. She has the responsibility of tracking down everyone who's not "exactly" where they're supposed to be.

Above: Mrs. Maertz has at the work-load on her always crowded desk. Right: Mrs. Robinette, guardian of the money, fights off an unknown intruder.

Four counselors work for more than 1600 Roosevelt students

The Counseling Office offers something for everyone, everything from schedule changes and transcripts, to air conditioning for the warmer days.

There are four counselors who advise, rearrange, and there are their associates who take care of all the paperwork that the counselors create.

A special feature of the counseling office staff is their special concern with preparing students for college. They hosted over 100 college representatives this year. Miss Crouthamel, the school registrar, takes care of all the materials necessary to apply to the college whose representative most impressed you.

English teachers attend workshop

Incoming ninth graders posed many challenges in all departments, but the English department handled them in a very effective way. During the summer, a workshop was held for the Roosevelt English teachers. The purpose was to orient the new teachers to the "ways of Roosevelt," and to coordinate the entire English section.

The English department at Roosevelt is very wide in scope. It includes three types of literature classes, Composition, Journalism, Forensics, and Drama. An Individualized Reading course is also available, to give students a time to devote to reading.

Two advanced English courses are also offered, Advanced Composition and AP/ASP English.

Books, classes added in Social Studies

Mr. Tom Long looks over a student's paper.

This year the Social Studies Department was one of the departments in the school most affected by change.

The basic courses were offered as always, but with the addition of freshmen, more emphasis was placed on World History.

The biggest changes made in the department were the reduction of Anthropology and Asian Studies to one section each, and the addition of two new teachers.

Students were aided this year with the addition of Government, Economics, World History II and American History text books.

Dead cats provide realistic studies

The Science department's job is to break the world into separate parts to explain how it works. Classes like Earth Science and Physical Science go briefly over things like chemical activity, weather, and plant life. Physics is the study of motion and energy.

The Chemistry courses explain in depth how elements form into compounds and what these compounds do.

Biology is the study of living organisms, how they function, and what those functions are. For the real biology buffs and future doctors, Roosevelt offers an Advanced Biology course. This class concentrates more on animal life forms and is famous at Roosevelt for the hard work and the dead cats.

Roosevelt took on two new teachers in this department. Mr. Spain from Callanan teaches Earth and Physical Science and Mr. Snider teaches Earth Science.

Roosevelt offers varied math courses

The math program at Roosevelt ranges from General Math I to Calculus. The courses in between these two extremities are Geometry, Algebra I and II, and College Math.

Next year another class, General Math II, will be added to the curriculum. It is a class designed for students who need some math experience but do not plan on attending college. It will be a supplementary to Consumer Business.

Three new teachers were added to the department this year. Mr. Brown and Mrs. Nelson were transferred from Merrill along with the ninth graders, and Mr. Storm took the place of Mrs. Egli and is teaching the Advanced Math courses.

Two new additions to the math program will be in the form of two computers, a Radio Shack computer and another named Apple II.

Students succeed in language study

Roosevelt's Foreign Language program has been extremely successful, measured in terms of students continuing in college, and national test scores.

There are four languages offered at Roosevelt: French, Spanish, German, and Latin. Emphasis is placed not only on speaking the language, but also on each country's culture.

All the language areas have had difficulty in acquiring and maintaining a comprehensive program. However, due to student, parent, and teacher support, Roosevelt still offers a Latin class and French V.

Two of the language areas, Spanish and French, also sponsor a club. French Club is the largest active group at Roosevelt.

Above: Mr. Pratt smiles as he reaches for his Spanish-English dictionary. He's forgotten the word for "good joke." Right: "Napoleon he's not!"

Art offerings are expanded

Roosevelt's Art Department is among the largest in the city, having four teachers. The newest addition came this year, in the person of Miss Debbie Wright.

There are art classes to satisfy any and all kinds of "artistic whims." First, all students must take Basic Design for a year. After that, other courses include Jewelry, Crafts, Commercial Design, Art Appreciation, and Printmaking.

Two advanced art classes are taught by Mr. George Hans. These include Advanced Drawing and Honors courses. The Honors courses serve as a replacement for Independent Study. They give talented art students a time to work on their own, and be creative.

The Art Department sponsors an Art Club and also is in charge of the annual Arts Fair in May.

All sections of the music department realize changes and improvements

Roosevelt's music department had a busy and productive year.

Vocal music, under the direction of Mr. Delbert Schiebel, grew in all phases of the program. A large mixed chorus was the biggest change. The addition of ninth graders to the school meant that Roosevelt's mixed chorus, including all high school grades, was expanded to two classes.

The concert chorus made a tape of their work, in an attempt to sing in New Orleans in 1981. The Roosevelt Singers sang out with Trebel Chorus right behind. The Early Dawn, swing choir, was also active.

All the vocal groups performed at the school's winter and spring programs. The Concert Chorus, Roosevelt Singers, and TED also sang at various other functions in the community.

Roosevelt bands also had an exciting year, under the direction of Mr. Harold Jansen. The Marching Band played at all the home football games. The group received a "2" in contest. John Keables was the drum major for the 140 plus group. The concert band also tested its skill around Des Moines.

Improvements were made with the Jazz bands. For the first time ever, Jazz II was made a class. The addition of freshmen added only one member to the twenty-one member Jazz I group, but helped to greatly strengthen Jazz II. Both groups went to numerous contests.

The highlight of the year was the band trip to Florida during spring vacation.

The orchestra also had a fantastic year, under the direction of Mr. Brauninger. The twenty-nine member group received a "1" (superior) rating at the state contest.

The groups also did a few "firsts" in Roosevelt history. They had three paid performances, which is almost unheard of for a high school orchestra. Also, the group premiered a work written by student conductor Jeff Jones, at the the winter concert. The orchestra also did their annual tour of many Des Moines schools.

All three directors agreed that it was one of the best years in TRHS music department history.

Mr. James Brauninger takes time out from conducting to practice his violin.

Food, home studied

The Homemaking Department concerns itself with the workings of a home and family. The down-to-earth aspects are examined with Food and the Consumer; Food Nutrition and Health; Clothing; and Child Development. Basically, they deal with buying and preparing food, making clothing, and raising children. There are also advanced courses offered for people interested in an in-depth study. Housing and the Environment concentrates on buying, furnishing, and up-keeping a home. Personal Development and Relationships teaches individuals how to deal with day-to-day living, relations with other people, and decision making. Personal and Family Living explores a vast spectrum in family life.

Wood, metals used

The Industrial Arts Department covers many fields of study. Working with wood is covered with Hand and Machine Wood, Cabinet Making, and Carpentry. The operation of machinery and tools is taught in machine shop. There are several classes dealing with hot, cold, and block metals.

Advanced metal skills are also offered. Introductory Drafting, Industrial Design, Advanced Design, and Engineering Drafting cover putting designs on paper. Electricity and Electronics I and II go into designing and fabricating electric projects and how they work.

Business up at RHS

Roosevelt's business department continued to offer a wide selection of classes for both career and private use.

The major change in the department came due to the addition of ninth graders to the school. This increased the number of students enrolled in the already heavily populated department. More sections of Typing I and II were added, as well as a new course, General Business.

Four levels of Accounting were offered at TRHS, while only two levels of typing and shorthand were available. Consumer Business, Business Law, Notehand and Business Math were all offered as one-semester classes. Distributive Education work and Salesmanship were also part of the department.

What's happening behind the wheel?

What would it be like to place your life in the hands of a nervous, incompetent, and inexperienced child over five times a day? Well . . . it would be the typical daily routine of the Roosevelt Driver's Education teachers.

Each fall, over two hundred students realize that they are sixteen and old enough to "drive." So, five brave men take on the feat of teaching them these skills.

The Drivers Ed course works in a six day cycle. The curriculum consists of three days of class, one day of driving, one day of the simulator, and one day off.

The librarians know almost EVERYTHING

". . . an all-knowing being which has the capacity to memorize the positions, names, and authors of over 19,000 books." What is this strange phenomenon? Well, it's commonly called a librarian.

Roosevelt has been endowed with two of these fine species, Mrs. Charlene Lakin and Mrs. Eleanor Blanks, this being her first year at Roosevelt. They are assisted by Mrs. Pierson.

The library's main goal is to provide materials that will best supplement the classroom. Another important service of the librarians, is hosting the weekly faculty coffees on Wednesday afternoons.

Mr. Crouse and Mrs. Stauffer are in charge of the study halls at Roosevelt. They make it possible for students to have periods during the day in which to work on their homework.

Mrs. Anhorn is the school nurse. She is solely responsible for the health of over 1600 students that keeps her very busy.

Mr. Evan Hines is Roosevelt's Liaison Officer. He spends his day "keeping guard" at Roosevelt.

Special Ed. helps all TRHS students

The special education department just thrived this year, with the addition of five teachers to the program.

Twenty-one students were in the individual instruction program for the learning disabled. This year a new ninth and tenth grade combined class was added.

Mr. Bruce said, "There has been a lot of improvement in our department this year. We even have our own bus, which enables us to go on several field trips each semester."

Work study students were also at Roosevelt. These students attended classes in the morning and worked in the community in the afternoon.

Aides help faculty with many skills

Three teachers' aides kept things under control for the faculty at Roosevelt this year.

Mrs. Hutson once again ran the audio-visual department. The department loans out and repairs the school's AV machines.

Mrs. Ruby Wells headed up the VTR equipment and crew. This year the school bought a new video tape recorder, a color cassette, a new camera, and two new TV sets (one for each floor).

Mrs. Catherine Gilchrist, in room 219, was responsible for supplementary science and social science textbooks. She also aided many teachers with clerical work.

While Mrs. Hutson and Mrs. Wells are thankful for the help they get from students, both agree that they need more helpers.

The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiasms, who, at the best, knows the triumph of high achievements; and who, at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who knew neither victory nor defeat."

New cheerleading squad is created

Newly created for the 1979-80 school year was the freshman cheerleading squad, co-captained by Joi Middleton and Paula Chebuhar. It was made necessary when freshmen and freshman sports were added to the Roosevelt scene.

The sophomore squad was co-captained by Susan Jones and Tammy Diggs.

In addition to their game appearances, the varsity cheerleaders saw to it that the younger squads learned how to carry on the RHS tradition.

They spent many hours conducting clinics for the sophomores and juniors who wanted to try out for the varsity squads, and also for the freshmen who were aspiring to the sophomore team.

Other activities included helping new students get better acquainted with Roosevelt during orientation, and raising money for their endeavors with a highly successful bake sale.

Varsity co-captains were, for football, Cheryl Johnson and Linda Paxton; for basketball, Sonya Jackson and Liz Thomas; and for wrestling, Jill Bennett and Jeannie Dahl.

Gridders finish with a 3—5 record

The 1979 Roughrider football team, co-captained by Ron Adcock, Chris Grimes, and Jay Jackson, finished their year with a 3-5 record. The team, coached by Don Prior, came back from a 1-5 record late in the season, and posted two impressive victories over North and Tech to provide the final record.

The Roughriders started the season on a good note, coming from behind to defeat 10th ranked Newton, 21-14. Roosevelt got a superb performance from junior tailback Terry Kemp, who had over 100 yards rushing for the night.

What happened in the next three ballgames can best be described as a nightmare. The gridders' opponents in the three games. East, Dowling, and Valley, scored 35,24, and 28 points respectively, while RHS could manage one touchdown in the East game.

Against Lincoln, the next Rider foe, the gridiron men started to put things together. The defense held the Rails to seven points in regulation play, and the offense scored one themselves to send the game into overtime, but the Rails proved to be too much as they came away with a 14-13 victory.

When Roosevelt entertained Hoover, it looked as if it were going to be another blowout, when the Huskies took a 21-0 halftime lead. But that was all in the way of scoring for Hoover as the Riders, led by Sophomore Bill Ebert, brought themselves back with three second-half scores. But it wasn't quite enough, Hoover holding on for a 21-18 win.

It was in the second half of that game the RHS defense started a streak that would last the rest of the season. In the last 10 quarters of the season the defense did not allow a single score.

The offense got untracked also, scoring 60 points in the last two games.

The final game, Roosevelt's homecoming against Tech, saw the defense work as a finely tuned machine, only once allowing Tech into RHS territory, while the offense rolled up 27 points.

At season's end many Rider players were given All-Metro status. Jim Phillips and Jim Thomas were picked to the first team; Matt Duncan and Terry Kemp made second; and Ron Adcock and Bill Garrison were given Honorable Mention. Phillips, a junior, was named to the all-state second team at defensive end.

Frosh, Sophs are winners

With three of their top players on the varsity squad, it didn't look as if the sophomore football team would be having a good season, but what happened was almost exactly the opposite, as the Little Riders finished with a 5-2 record.

The only losses came to Dowling, early in the season, and to Hoover, after the varsity had claimed starting quarterback Bill Ebert because of an injury to Ron Adcock.

The last two games of the season proved to be a little more exciting from the Riders' standpoint, for they defeated North and Tech by a combined score of 103-0.

Prospects for future are good

The freshman football team got off to a good start, beating three of their first four opponents by a combined score of 132-60.

The victories included a 20-8 victory over East, a 66-32 shellacking of Valley, and a 34-2 thrashing of Lincoln. The lone loss was to Dowling, 18-12.

The next two games were poor ones; they dropped a 22-18 decision to Hoover, and then lost to North 18-12.

In the last game of the season, the freshmen demolished Tech, 60-6.

Spikers end season at 9-9; JV goes 11-4

A senior-dominated volleyball team finished the season with a 7-7 Metro record and a 9-9 standing overall.

Five of the six starters for the larger part of the year were all seniors. Mel Barkley, Sue Worley, and Debbie James were all co-captains, and Dee Ann Davis and Rhonda Hoffman were also senior starters. Kim Knott was the only junior to crack the starting line-up.

Coach Rhea Bagdonas, in her first year at Roosevelt, said that she was pleased and impressed with the play of the team.

Senior co-captain Mel Barkley commented, "We played very well, even though the record doesn't show it, and I have gained a lot of self-discipline from it."

The JV team, comprised mainly of freshmen and sophomores, finished with an 11-4 record.

Harriers finish strong

The boy's cross country team had a slow season, but finished in good shape, finishing sixth in the Metro title run.

For Roosevelt, Randy Atchison finished 21st, in a time of 10:48. Next across the line for the Rough-riders was David Cramer, who finished 30th in 11:07. Other Roosevelt runners under 12 minutes were Scott Tice, 11:25; Kevin Thompson, 11:41; and Andy Miller, 11:42.

On the JV team, Andy Hudzinski was the top Roosevelt runner, placing 24th. Behind him were Jon Roemer, 26th, David Burns, 27th, and Curt Wolfe, 27th, all of whom finished in under 13 minutes.

Sophomore Alex Carr ran his best race of the year and finished 24th in 12:49 for the freshman-sophomore team.

The team graduated only two members and that should be to their advantage in the next year, as the other runners have gained valuable experience and should be very competitive in the Metro.

Sophomore Angie Fie heads for home in a meet against Polk County foe Ankeny.

Anne Shaw, junior, toils on in the hot fall sun, as Yvette Sutton closes in.

Girl runners sixth in conference meet

Senior Rhonda Jespersen ended her distance running career with a 58th place finish at the girls' state cross country meet, in Ames, on November 3.

One week prior she had run a respectable 11th at the district run.

As a team, the Roughrider lady harriers finished sixth at the Metro meet, after finishing fourth in the final Metro standings, and 11th at districts, not high enough to go to state.

Sophomore Angie Fie gave the team a lift in the early parts of the season, with many high finishes, including a second in the first meet, against Dowling.

The girls' swim team, comprised mainly of freshmen and sophomores, surprised by taking third place at the state swimming meet.

Sophomore Carey Hull led the team with fourth place finishes in the 50 freestyle and in the 100 freestyle. She also teamed up with three juniors, Kelly Hoffman, Martha Patterson, and Rachel Stauffer, to take third place in the 4 x 100 freestyle relay.

Four freshmen, Carolyn Baehr, Shelagh Cofer, Monica Hoffman, and Amy Mercer, took home a fifth place in the 200 medley relay race.

At the annual banquet, given in honor of the swimmers by their parents, senior Chelon Long was named Most Valuable Swimmer, an award that goes to the top senior squad member.

The Fathers' Award, presented to the senior with the most spirit, was given to Sara Savage. Junior Martha Patterson received the Most Improved Swimmer Award.

The Hoffman Award, named for Mrs. Judy Hoffman, recently deceased mother of several outstanding Roosevelt swimmers, went to Lucy Minkler. This award goes to the swimmer, usually a senior, who has been swimming the longest, and has the highest grade point average.

Swimmers finish fourteenth at state

This year's boys' swim team finished second in the Metro meet, to Valley, and second at districts, again to the Tigers.

At the Metro meet the 4 x 100 relay team, consisting of three seniors, Jamie Hickman, Brent Mellecker, and Phil Templeton, and one junior, Doug Hiemstra, broke the Metro record, set last year by Roosevelt, on their way to a first place finish. Their time was 3:20.69. The old record was 3:21.73.

Doug Hiemstra placed second in the 500 freestyle and fourth in the 200 free to lead the Roughriders to the second place finish at the district meet.

Jamie Hickman placed third in the 50 free; Brent Mellecker captured fourth in the 500 and fifth in the 200 freestyle; while Phil Templeton finished third in both the 100 and 200 freestyles. Those four again combined to take the 4 x 100 free relay.

The diving corps had a lack luster year, not sending even one diver to districts. They do have one bright spot for the future. That is the diving of freshman Jeff Johnson, who began the year as the team's number five diver. By year's end, he had improved to become the METRO's number five diver.

The state meet saw Roosevelt capture fourteenth place with 19½ points. The 4 x 100 free relay team again brought RHS its highest finish, with a sixth place finish.

Senior Phil Templeton was named the Most Valuable Swimmer at season's end.

Clockwise from upperleft: Doug Heimstra takes the turn. Tom Riman patiently awaits his turn to swim. An unidentified swimmer practices his freestyle swimming. Tom Tenner butterflys it down the pool.

JV swimmers prep for varsity career

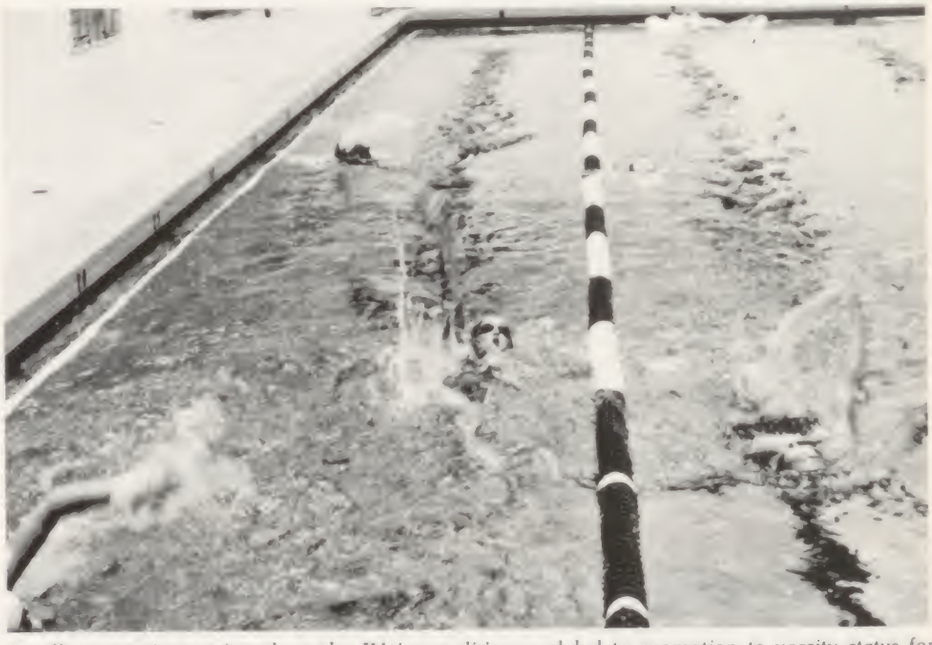
Miss Deb Wright, coach of the girls' JV swim team, says her proudest moment this year was when two of her girls were promoted to Coach Reed's varsity squad.

The two girls, Cecilia Cage and Chris Lindell, improved their times enough so that when the JV season ended they qualified for varsity competition.

Coach Wright says the purpose of JV practices is "to help the girls better their stroke and build up their stamina," valuable assets in swimming. The JV squad also gives candidates for future varsity swimming teams a chance to prove their interest.

The girls also were able to participate in some competitive swimming. They hosted a city-wide JV unofficial meet. No scores were kept, but Coach Wright says there is no doubt as to who won.

Row 1: Donna Nell, Darla Langstraat, Holly Johnson, Nancy Beutler, Lori Watson, Stephanie Windsor, Lisa Howard; Row 2: Katy Randolph, Ruth Hammond, Kathy Morton, Chris Winship, Elise Warnke, Jeanne Stone, Sabrina Freund, Angie Soener, Toby Sharp; Row 3: Kathy Scheuremann, Linda Lumadue, Elisabeth Archer, Julie Beutler, Debbie Bierman, Coach Wright, Amy Jarnagin, Cindy Baldwin, Katy Kinney, LuAnn Lindell, Kathy Lindberg.



Gruelling practice sessions kept the JV in condition, and led to promotion to varsity status for some of the squad.

Row 1: Sherry Zickel, Donna Tiffin, Kris McKinney; In Pool: Barb McFadyen, Libby James, Angie Soener, Kathy Shuck; Row 2: Katie Randolph, Jennifer Leachman, Jennifer Miller, Chelon Long, Lucy Minkler.

Synchro team finishes fifth at state.

A young and inexperienced synchronized swim team took fifth place at the state meet, which was won by Valley. Roosevelt's Kathy Shuck also took fifth place in the solo event.

Coach Rhea Bagdonas, who was in her first year, said, "We are a rebuilding team, but hopefully we can start earlier next year and get off to a better season."

In the team's one other competition during the year, it performed at the Valley Invitational. Valley won that meet, but encouragingly for the inexperienced Riderettes, they took second place.

Gymnasts take twelfth Metro crown

Roosevelt's dominance in gymnastics competition continued in the '79-'80 season, the Rider gymnasts taking the Metro crown for the 12th time in as many years.

This year's team was led by seniors Patty Sargent, who was individual medalist in three meets during the year, and Cheryl Johnson, who placed high in every meet.

The girls started the season off on a good note, tumbling past Valley, 143.65—118.05. The Riders then reeled off three more victories in a row, downing Lincoln, 149.30—130.45; Hoover, 147.50—135.00; and Dowling, 142.75—131.50.

Then against East, with Anne Michel just returning from a broken ankle injury and Meg May and Patty Sargent nursing sore ankles, the gymnasts suffered their only loss of the year. Although they hit the 150 mark for the only time during the season, East proved to be tougher, racking up 151.50 points.

RHS placed third in districts, behind East and Ankeny. The outstanding Rider performer, as she was all year, was Patty Sargent, who turned in three second place finishes. Her first came in the floor exercise, in which she tied with junior Lisa Todd with an 8.41. She tied with freshman Amy Longnecker in the parallel bars for another second, and she captured second with a 7.95 in the vault.

Row 1: Patty Sargent, Cheryl Johnson; Row 2: Anne Michel, Dana Hanson, "Teddy", Amy Longnecker, Kristy Frazier; Row 3: Meg May, Katie Savage, Lisa Todd, and Coach Deb Thyberg.

In regional competition, the team did not qualify for the state meet, missing qualification by four-tenths of a point.

The only individual to go to state from RHS was, of course, Patty Sargent, who performed in the floor exercise. She placed eighth, with a score of 8.6.

Returning to the team next year will be juniors Kristy Frazier and Lisa Todd; sophomores Anne Michel and Katie Savage; and freshmen Dana Hanson, Amy Longnecker, and Meg May.

The team is coached by Ms. Deb Thyberg.

Ups and downs fill Roosevelt's 8-12 year

The Roosevelt Roughrider varsity boys' basketball team finished its season with an 8-12 mark.

Roosevelt's first game showed promise for the Riders. With an 85-65 victory over usually-strong Ames, it looked as if the Blue and White was going to have an exceptional year. That was not to be the case, however, as the Riders dropped three of their next four games, the only win coming against Valley, 93-88.

Tech was a 59-54 loser to Roosevelt as it became the Riders' third victim. The next two games were losses, but then Roosevelt came back, beating Dowling in impressive fashion, 75-60.

Three more losses followed, before Lewis Grady went wild, scoring a career high 41 points, as RHS whipped North 104-66.

A game later the Riders were in top form again, pulling off a 71-68 upset of seventh-ranked Marshalltown.

In the last game of the season Roosevelt beat Dowling again, to put their pre-tournament record at 7-11.

Next came the first round of district play, and 38 points from Grady helped demolish Tech, 94-63. That's where the line ended, for in the next game Lincoln held Grady to 14 and the Railsplitters won, 94-75.

Ricky DeCarlo led the team in end-of-the-season scoring statistics with a 20.9 average. Grady had 19.6 and Terry Kemp 15.5 points per game. DeCarlo also led the team in free throw accuracy, with 78.3 per cent. John Ruble hit 70.7 per cent of his free shots and Kemp 69 per cent.

Jim Phillips was the rebound leader, ripping down 8.5 per game. Grady averaged 8.4 per contest, and Ruble 4.4.

DeCarlo was named to the coaches' All-Metro first team, and Grady appeared on the second team.

Roosevelt goes into its high-scoring offense.

James leads seniors; girls end at 4-14

Nine seniors were graduated from the 1979-80 girls' basketball team, including the top five scorers and the top four guards, leaving plenty of room for moving up next year.

Trish McGinnis led the forwards, with a 13.1 scoring average. Deb James averaged an even 13. James also led the team in three categories, with a 47 per cent field goal percentage, 53 rebounds, and 46 assists. Lisa Johnson was the top free throw shooter, hitting on 88 of her 143 attempts for 62 per cent.

The season did not start well for the Lady Riders, as they lost the first six games, including a 45-42 embarrassment to North. The next two games were better, however, for they were victorious, first at Newton, where Trish McGinnis was the leading scorer with 22 points and Mel Barkley had 12 defensive rebounds.

The second win came against Tech, 57-52. Deb James led all scorers with 24, while Trish McGinis added 22. Gordette had 10 rebounds in the defensive court.

That was all the good fortune they would have for awhile, however, as they slumped to a five-game losing streak. When North came around it was a different story, with Roosevelt winning its third game, 64-57. Deb James had a career high of 28 points. Gordette Brown again led the guards with eight boards.

The final win came after a loss to Dowling, as they beat Tech for the second time in as many meetings. The Riders jumped off to a 17-5 lead and held on to win, 60-58. McGinnis had her season high of 26 points.

The season then ended abruptly in the sectional tournament with an 82-63 loss to Indianola.

Sophs win Metro; JV finishes 3 and 6

The boys' sophomore basketball team brought to Roosevelt a Metro crown, the first in many years. Led by Bill Ebert's 13.8 per game scoring average and Marcus Thomas' 11 per game clip, the Little Riders finished with a 15-3 record and 12-2 in the Metro, their only losses coming to Lincoln and Hoover.

Darryl Jenkins led the rebounding, hauling down an average of 11.1 per game. Ebert led the team in free throws, hitting on 49 of 68 attempts for 72 percent. Ebert was also half of a tandem that led the team in field goal percentage. He and Vincent Oliver connected on 57.5 percent of their shots.

The boys' junior varsity basketball team ended the season at 3-6. Coached by Mr. Tim Crouse, they won games over Lincoln, North, and Dowling.

Members of the team included Marty Barkley, Tod Easley, Bill Garrison, Chris Hanson, Mike Lathrop, Wyatt Ritchie, and Mark Stevens.

Lathrop and Garrison were high scorers.

JV finishes season at 0-8

Bad fortune was that of the junior varsity girl's team. They did not win a ballgame all year. And that wasn't the only problem they had.

At the beginning of the year, not many tried out for the varsity team, so consequently, there weren't any leftover for the JV squad. Coach Orv Siers had to "advertise" to get players out for the team, and about 10 did come out.

Allysia Ashe led the scoring and Shelly Cosgrove was the leading rebounder.

Sophomores end year with even 8-8 record.

Yvette Sutton, who moved to Des Moines just prior to the start of school, helped the sophomore girls' basketball team to an 8-8 record. Yvette, who moved here from Akron, Ohio, led the team in scoring, field goal percentage, and offensive rebounding, but in all three categories, Angie Fie was second to her.

In scoring, Yvette averaged 24.3 points a game, while Angie averaged 17.2. Yvette connected on 45% of her field goal attempts, Angie made 43.2%. And Yvette had 74 rebounds to Angie's 56.

Angie also led in three categories, steals with 23, assists with 38, and free throw percentage, 55.2%.

The guards were led by Holly Ashmore. Holly pulled down 99 rebounds for an average of 6 a game, and she averaged 4.5 steals a game, for a total of 71.

Freshman teams new at RHS

When the ninth grade was added to the other three classes at Roosevelt and other city high schools, a change was necessary in some team sports. One of those affected was basketball. New uniforms were needed as well as new coaches and schedules. Coaching the girls' team was Mr. David Whitver, while the boys' team coach was Mr. Tom Egli, a former Drake basketball player.

'A' boys are 17-5

In its first year of existence the RHS freshman boys' basketball team turned in a good record, finishing second in Metro at 13-2. Overall the team recorded a 17-5 record.

The team was divided into two groups, the "A" squad and the "B" squad. Leading scorer on the "A" team was Tracy Cooley, with 17.2 points a game. He was also the leading rebounder, pulling down 10.2 per game. Mike Harris averaged eight points a game for the "B" squad.

Girls end at .500

Mr. Dennis Johnson, sophomore girls' basketball coach, should be well pleased with the new talent coming up next year.

He will be inheriting a group of talented and physical players from a '79-'80 freshman team which finished at an even .500 under the coaching of David Whitver.

Leading scorer on the team was Rhonda Clyce, who averaged just over 20 points a game. Mary Simmons led the rebounding in the guard court, averaging seven a game.

Grapplers rebuild, win 3, lose 7

The wrestling team, suffering through the throes of a rebuilding process, managed to turn in a 3-7 record in '79-'80. The squad was young, with only four seniors being lost to graduation.

The season opened with a 51-14 victory over a short-handed North team, followed by a 44-14 loss to Hoover.

Just before Christmas the Riders traveled to West Marshall for a three-way dual meet. They lost to Marshalltown, 36-20, and West Marshall, 36-16, but clobbered Maxwell 48-21 to take third place in tournament standings.

Victories over usually tough Carroll Kuemper, 27-25, and East, 37-23, were the highlights of an otherwise disappointing remainder of the season. The low spots were shutouts at the hands of Valley, 63-0; Dowling, 62-0; and Indianola, 51-0.

Senior Brian Smith had the best record in post-season competition, finishing fourth in districts in the 155-pound class.

Scott Butterfield, a senior, was named the team's most valuable wrestler at the end of the season. Other seniors were J. R. Dennis and John Thompson. Coach Mike Wilson, completing his first year as head wrestling mentor, likes his young team, and is hoping for better things in the future.

Zenian takes 6th in 110 highs at state

Randy Zenian, Roosevelt's only qualifier for the state track meet, stormed from last place to finish sixth in the 110-meter high hurdles. It wasn't his best time of the year, a 15.0, but he did turn in an excellent 15.3.

Zenian ran that 15.0 at the Metro Conference meet, where he won the race, sprinting away from the field in school record time. He wasn't the only Roosevelt trackman to win an event at the Metro meet. Sophomore Rich Rumley took honors in the 100 meters. His time wasn't a school record, but is close to Kevin Rife's 10.8 set last year.

Throughout the year other members of the team performed admirably also.

At Hoover, senior Tom Riman won the 3200 meters in 10:56.49. The 4 x 800 relay team (Jerry Kingkade, Doug Adamson, Andy Miller, and Ross Hartline) turned in an 8:39 to win that race.

Hartline then won the 800 with a 2:07, and Loren Strait took his specialty, the discus, with a toss of 130 feet 10 inches.

At the Ames Invitational, the Riders placed sixth with 31 points. Zenian took third in the 110 highs, Rumley took second in the 100, and Kingkade ended third in the 800.

With over half of the team being freshmen and sophomores, Coach Dick Hewins is looking for bigger and better things next year.

Hard work paid off for senior Randy Zenian, as he became one of the best in the state in the 110 meter high hurdles.

Row 1: Deb James, Deb Parry, Trish Mauk, Rhonda Jesperson, Karin McKinney; Row 2: Amy Barker, Roxanne Davis, Yvette Sutton, Holly Ashmore, Angie Fie, Anne Shaw, Jeannie Stone, Shavaun Adams, Tina Avants; Row 3: Coach Siers, Vanessa Wiggins, Jenny Sessa, Vernice Morrow, Carla English, Lori Flater, Julie King, Cyndi Murray, Missy Book, Anne Hawkins.

Sprinter, relay team go to state

Roosevelt had a relay team and an individual runner qualify for the girls state track meet. One had its problems and the other turned in a spectacular performance.

The 4 x 100 relay team didn't make it past the preliminaries, when a bad pass dropped them out of contention.

However, sophomore Holly Ashmore made it to the finals of the 100 meters, and finished third, behind Dickerson of Indianola, the state champ, and Davis of Burlington.

In March the girls tied for fourteenth in the state indoor meet. Ashmore was second there in the 50-meter dash.

Moving outdoors, the girls finished fifth at the Lincoln Invitational, with 28 points. Ashmore won the 100 in 13.24, Missy Book took second in the 400 meters, and Angie Fie was third in the long jump. Rider relay teams were second in the 4 x 200 and 4 x 400, and third in the 4 x 800.

The girls finished eighth in the Dowling Invitational, with 22 points. The 4 x 800 relay team finished third to Columbus and Dowling, and Ashmore was second in the 100, again behind Dickerson.

Young golf team has good year

Sophomore Rob Hiersteiner tees off at a meet against Hoover. Roosevelt lost the match, one of only two in the year.

As was the case with so many other athletic teams at Roosevelt this year, youth dominated the boys' golf team. Only one golfer of the top five is lost to graduation for the 1981 season.

That one senior is Augie Landis, captain of the team.

He is very optimistic about next year's team. "There'll be two Pidgeons back next year, Larry and David, along with Rod Peterson, who played number two most of the year."

The other top linksman is Rob Hiersteiner, who will be a junior.

For the year, the team finished with a 5-2 Metro record, losing only to Hoover by four strokes and to Metro champ Dowling, in a heartbreaker, by one stroke.

At districts, Roosevelt placed eighth out of fourteen teams.

Row 1: Laura DeChant, Carolyn Hintz, Maggie Benning, Diana Dickinson, Meg May, Rhonda Hoffman; Row 2: Mr. Prior, Carol Noyce, Brenda Sypal, Teri Lutz, Jenny Wolk, Lynn Schaefer.

Girls golf team ends with 3-4 Metro card

Maggie Benning battles her way out of the rough.

Coach Don Prior guided the girls' golf team to a fifth place finish in district play and a 3-4 Metro record.

The beginning of the season didn't go too well for the Riderettes as they lost four of their first five matches.

Against Hoover the girls played well, but couldn't pull out the victory, losing 124-125. Senior Diana Dickinson, captain of the team, was the individual medalist, carding a 28.

Valley was next and again the Riderettes were defeated, this time 101-125. Dickinson had a 28 to lead the team.

Roosevelt's next loss was to East, 222-228. A victory followed, when Lincoln was forced to forfeit its match. RHS then was downed by Dowling, 101-112. A week later, though, they turned in a winning performance, putting by Tech, 120-124. Meg May was the low with a 28.

Roosevelt then demolished North in its final meet 120-146. May was again the low scorer with yet another 28.

Districts followed and the girls finished fifth with a 515 total.

The team lost three seniors, Laura DeChant, Dickinson, and Rhonda Hoffman

Stetson captures state singles title

Seeded number two, junior Kevin Stetson wasn't the top pick in the boys' state tennis meet, but you wouldn't have known it by his play.

He defeated Mark MacDonald of West Davenport in the finals to win the state title, 6-1,6-7, 6-3. MacDonald, also a junior, was seeded fourth, and in the semis had beaten the number one seed.

The doubles team of John Hansell and Bob Purnell also made it to state. The two sophomores finished fourth, losing the consolation match to a duo from Central Davenport, 2-6, 7-5, 6-1. The team had the two from Davenport at match point in the second set, but a lapse in concentration followed, as did the loss.

During the season Roosevelt went undefeated, losing only seven individual matches. The first individual loss came against Ames, as Hansell and Purnell were defeated. Stetson won handily, 6-4, 6-3.

Roosevelt then traveled to Marshalltown for the Bobcat Invitational, which the Riders won, accumulating 9 ½ points to Marshalltown's 8 ½.

As Metro play opened the boys whitewashed Tech, 9-0. Everyone won in straight sets. Eric Svenson won his match 6-0,6-0, and Stetson beat Jim Eaton, who had gone to state the previous year, 6-2, 6-4.

Against rival Dowling, Roosevelt won 7-2. Stetson had to go three sets before downing his opponent, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. Svenson won, 6-1, 6-0.

A string of 9-0 victories followed, against Ankeny, Indianola, North, and East. Svenson again went 6-0, 6-0 against Ankeny. However, two doubles teams had their problems, having to go three sets. Stetson and senior Doug Reynolds won 5-7, 6-3, 6-0, while the team of Steve Book and David Kalainov came from behind to win 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

After the next three matches the Riders faced Hoover for the Metro crown. It was the highest number of losses that RHS would have all year, but the netmen did win, 6-3. Nearly all the singles matches went to three sets. Stetson won his 6-2, 4-6,6-1; Hansell won 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; as did Purnell, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2; and Reynolds, 7-6, 2-6, 6-4.

With the Metro title clinched, Coach Treman juggled the lineup some for Lincoln, but the Riders still won, 8-1.

Districts were next, and Roosevelt swept the two types of play. Stetson won the singles title and Hansell and Purnell took the doubles.

One might suspect that with a state title and a fourth place in this year's championships, the coach would be ecstatic over the play of the team. While Mr. Treman does concede that it was one of Roosevelt's best seasons ever, he believes that next year even better things should happen.

"We've set a goal," he said, "that next year we will sweep the state tournament."

Girls' tennis team sends streak to 74

It's the longest streak in Metro tennis history, and it is still going strong, with no signs of being broken.

"It" is the number of consecutive meet victories the girls' tennis team has amassed over the past eight years. The last time the girls lost was in 1973, when they went 6-3. The last loss of that season was to Lincoln, 2-7.

Since then, their closest brush with defeat has been a 5-4 victory over Ankeny, in 1979. Two years, '74 and '75, saw the girls lose only one individual match all year.

It is a great streak, one that rivals UCLA's streak of 80 wins in a row in basketball. Rider fans can only hope that it never stops.

Another banner year for girls' tennis

It was another banner year for the Roosevelt girls' tennis team, as they went 9-0 in dual meet play and captured the top two spots in district doubles.

The girls "9-0'ed" almost all their opponents, losing individual matches in only two meets.

In fact, their first five opponents, Valley, Tech, Dowling, North, and East, all failed to win a match.

The girls then beat Ankeny 8-1 and Hoover 6-3. In their final regular season meet they blanked Lincoln, 9-0.

That's where the fun began. At sectional the team of Joannie Heggen and Meg Murphy, both juniors, breezed through all their matches and defeated their own teammates, Ann Kelly and Rachel Stauffer, in an all-Roosevelt final, 6-1,6-0.

At districts the same thing happened, and the dynamic duo again beat Kelly and Stauffer, this time 6-1, 6-3.

Both teams went to state, and Heggen and Murphy brought to Roosevelt a second place trophy, losing in the finals to Columbus of Waterloo's Sandy Webber and Mary Boesen.

Coach Tom Reed's hopes are high for next year, as the team lost only four players to graduation. Karen Kelley, Julie Smith, Liz Rodgers, and Kris Forney have gone, but eight of the top ten players are returning.

Coach Reed gives a bit of advice to two members of his championship squad.

Clockwise from upper left: Rachel Stauffer's serves often allowed no return. Meg Murphy was half of Roosevelt's great doubles team. Stauffer watches an opponent's shot sail past the base line. The other half of the doubles team, Joannie Heggen, winds up for a backhand.

Baseball team conquers inexperience

The 1979 Roosevelt varsity baseball team was one of inexperience, with only three letter winners returning from tbe 1978 season. The '79 team finished with a record of 7-19 overall and a 5-9 Metro finish. That placed the Riders sixth in the conference.

Twice during the summer the Riders put back-to-back victories together. They beat eventual co-Metro champ Hoover, 9-6, and then romped by North, 15-0. Sophomore Bill Ebert pitched a one-hit, seven-strikeout game against the Bears, and Greg Walker led the hitting with three RBI's.

After a loss to Tech, 5-3, the Roosevelt nine knocked off once-ranked East, 4-3. Ebert won, striking out nine. After the mid-season Saydel tourney, in which RHS took fourth, they beat Valley, 3-1. Ebert fired a one-hitter and struck out 11.

Ebert's finest game was yet to come. It was against Norwalk in the first game of sectionals. Ebert struck out 16 men on his way to a complete game and a victory, 2-1.

Steve Vickery was named the team's Most Valuable Player and was captain of the squad.

Young Ebert was named to first team all-Metro as a utility player, as he split time between pitching and the outfield.

Jim Burns, Steve Halterman, John Price, and Steve Vickery all received Honorable Mention.

Softball finish is best ever

Roosevelt's young softball team ended the 1979 summer season with the highest finish ever for a Rider softball squad.

The team, which lost only one senior to graduation, finished up the season in fine fashion, with an 11-3 record that left them only one game behind champion Lincoln. They had a 19-10 overall record.

The Riders placed three players on the first team all-Metro squad. They were graduated senior Laura Leonard, who played left field, senior Deb James, first base, and Pam Fowler, pitcher, who scored 18 victories in the year, the most ever by any RHS pitcher. Also named to the all-Metro squad was Rhonda Hoffman, catcher, on the second team. Given Honorable Mention were Mel Barkley, Mel Johnson, and Jeri Middleton.

Lindstrom, Stauffer are players of 70's

With the arrival of a new decade this past year, it seemed appropriate that we go back to the '70's and select a female and male athlete of the seventies.

That's what we've done, but the process was a very tough one, especially at a school like Roosevelt, where so many outstanding athletes pass through the doors.

A poll was taken of all the "senior" coaches to determine the winners, but that was quickly thrown out, when it was discovered they had voted for kids in their own sport.

So it became the job of the sports editor to hunt for the two most gifted athletes to come out of RHS in the past ten years.

Finally, though, the winners have been determined. The female winner is Janet Lindstrom, and the male athlete is John Stauffer, both of whom graduated in 1977.

In Janet's senior year she led the swim team to a fourth place finish at the state meet. She picked up two individual championships and also helped the 200 yd. medley relay team to another title. In her two individual wins she set two state records. She lowered the 200 I.M. record to 2.11:38, and then set a new 100 butterfly standard of 59.81.

Janet now attends Kansas University, where she is a member of the swim team.

In her three-year career she has set 14 Big 8 records and has captured three conference titles. This past year she was named K. U.'s female athlete of the year.

John is at Duke University in North Carolina, where he plays number one on the tennis team.

While at Roosevelt, John took third place at the state meet as a sophomore. Then as a junior he took second to Hoover's Roger Knapp, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3. Finally, as a senior, he snared the state title, defeating Jim Miller of West Waterloo, 6-2, 6-4.

Now at Duke, John is majoring in Engineering, and as mentioned is the number one player on Duke's tennis team. He finished fourth in the powerful Atlantic Coast Conference meet.

Congratulations to both John and Janet, on winning this award.

John Stauufer returns a serve during his senior year, in which he won the state singles title.

Janet Lindstrom "goes for the gold" so to speak as she butterflys down the pool.

DECA sells yearbook ads

John Fontanini and Jeff Duncan were the top salesmen for the Distributive Education Club (DECA) in its drive this year to sell advertising for the yearbook.

John's sales total was about $975, and Jeff's approximately $650. DECA undertook to sell ads for the yearbook under an arrangement that gave the club 10 percent of the proceeds for the club treasury. As a result the club will get between $250 and $300 when all advertising is in.

Mike Fiedler, Tim Frakes, and Greg Joura received honorable mention in team decision-making merchandising, and Lori LaPole received honorable mention in Retailing Principles and Problems at the DECA Area Conference.

DECA is a club which is open to students participating in the Distributive Education classes of Mr. Ron McHone.

Top honors from Roosevelt at the DECA Area V and VII Conference were won by John Fontanini, who took a second place in Advertising Services, and Jeff Duncan, who finished second place in Retailing Principles and Problems.

"He entered all the portals of the world, a vibrant, thrilled, exhaustless, restless soul, riding at last the very stars—asleep."

Robert H. Davis
